A DICTIONARY

OF

THE ENGISH LANGUAGE,

PRONOUNCING, ETYMOLOGICAL, AND EXPLANATORY,

EMBRACING SCIENTIFIC AND OTHER TERMS, NUMEROUS FAMILIAR TERMS, AND A COPIOUS SELECTION OF OLD ENGLISH WORDS.

By THE REV. JAMES STORMONTH.

THE PRONUNCIATION CAREFULLY REVISED BY THE REV. P. H. PHELP, M.A.

Pages 1248. 4to, Cloth, $6 00; Half Roan, $7 00; Full Sheep, $7 50.

The New Dictionary completed before his death by the Rev. James Stormonth is the latest and best of recent efforts by scholars to provide a complete and accurate hand-book of reference for all who read, write, and speak English. The publishers believe that its introduction into this country will prove a real service to the American people. Attention is particularly invited to certain of its distinctive features.

The Vocabulary is comprehensive, including every word which has any claim to a place in the language, together with those which occur in standard English literature, even if now obsolete. The collection of all important or obscure words and phrases of provincial or local use, and of the new technical terms of the arts and sciences, has been prosecuted with industry.

The Pronunciation of every word is made clear by respelling it in syllables, according to the simplest possible scheme of "phonotypes" or "sound-symbols," in which only the English alphabet is used, but each letter or combination of letters has a fixed, unvarying sound. Twenty-four familiar words, containing these symbols, are printed at the foot of facing pages, so that a glance is enough to determine the precise sound of any syllable, if it is not understood at once. This part of the work has been carefully brought up to the standard of the best current usage, under the charge of the Rev. P. H. Phelp, M.A., of Cambridge.

The Etymologies are given with fulness, according to the latest authorities. The diligent and fruitful researches of contemporary scholars have revealed for the first time the true origins and affinities of multitudes of English words, and have thus corrected and supplemented the etymological teachings of the older books, which, though still in general use, cannot now be trusted. In this branch the progressive spirit of modern scholarship has achieved some of its greatest results; and these, arranged and illustrated so as to be available to every reader, form a conspicuous element of value in the present work.

The Definitions have been carefully prepared with a view to the utmost usefulness, and seek to give the meaning of each word with greater precision than is commonly attained, but in the simplest and clearest equivalents that can be selected. In the wish to give the utmost information possible in the smallest space, all ordinary meanings are expressed briefly, and room is saved for the full explanations of words which embody a historical or scientific fact or a literary allusion. Thus the work becomes a comprehensive Book of Reference for the terms in use in every department of English speech; it affords an explanation, adequate for all ordinary occasions, of the common forms of the written and spoken language, of the terms employed in the arts and sciences, of the remoter and more suggestive turns of speech in literature, of the words and phrases applied in men's daily employments, and of a large mass of provincial speech and even familiar "slang." Thus the extent, variety, and exactness of the information given are such that, for the large majority of the occasions upon which an encyclopædia is commonly consulted, the Dictionary becomes a practical substitute.

The Arrangement of the work has been carefully studied, down to the details of the typography, in order to afford the greatest possible facility of reference. The grouping system of Mr. Stormonth collects in a single article words which are obviously derived from the leading or key-word of the group, and which are intimately connected with it in signification, and thus not only saves much space by avoiding repetitions, but greatly facilitates the comparison of cognate forms and meanings. The key-words, being brought out boldly in "clarendon" letters, catch the eye at a glance, and lead to the instant discovery of any derivative sought. In the familiar use of the book this part of the plan will be found one of its convenient and satisfactory features.

The Appendixes contain: 1. A complete list of prefixes and affixes. 2. A complete list of abbreviations in common use. 3. A copious selection of phrases and sentences from foreign languages found in English books. 4. The proper names of the Scriptures, with the correct pronunciation of each. 5. The Constitution of the United States.

PRESS NOTICES.

We cannot but perceive, first, the wholesomeness and right feeling which pervade these lines. There is not a poem, no matter how short, but carries its lesson. . . . The thousands of readers who read Will Carleton's verses until they are learned by heart may be congratulated upon the appearance of this book, which contains so many kindly thoughts, so much sympathy for the afflicted, and so much besides to entertain and instruct. The illustrations are exceedingly good.—Brooklyn Union.

Many of the poems, as literary productions, are of marked merit. As sketches they are graphic, and so true to life as to be chronicles of real history. Withal they appeal directly to the best emotions of the human heart, and instruct as well as amuse.—Chicago Inter-Ocean.

In all Mr. Carleton's ballads there is much pathos, tenderness, true feeling, wholesome advice, sturdy common-sense, and practical morality.—Boston Daily Advertiser.

No one has done more than Mr. Carleton to ennoble the plain living and high thinking of the rural class. . . . The illustrations are excellent.—Boston Herald.

In the wonderment of the young student who comes to the city fresh from college, and in the amusing adventures and experiences of the guileless rustic, on his first entry into the great Modern Babel, the poet finds ample scope for that humor, pathos, and descriptive power which have made his ballads so popular.—Observer, N. Y.

In these poetical sketches, profusely and attractively illustrated, the poet has wrought out his design admirably. His poems have an easy flow, are animated, and always refreshing. They are a spirited delineation, true to life, of the scenes and characters to which he devotes his talent.—Christian Intelligencer, N. Y.

Songs of the heart these poems may aptly be called. They tell in strong, bold fashion of the wealth and want, the vice and virtue, of the great cities as they appear to one unfamiliar with their scenes. Their tone and spirit are so true and earnest, and withal have so hearty a ring to them, that they must surely accomplish the author's purpose. — Living Church, Chicago.

The poems are at once fresh, lively, striking, and impressive. . . . There is a vein of genuine pathos and humor in most of the ballads, which imparts a natural and life-like reality to the characters and incidents described, and always awakens a warm response in the heart of the reader.—Lutheran Observer, Philadelphia.

These ballads are tender, simple, and strike a responsive chord in the reader's heart. . . . Emphatically a home book.—Christian at Work, N. Y.

Mr. Carleton has given us a wonderfully impressive mirror of city life, of the countryman's experience therein, and the healthful way in which the pure air and surroundings of the country come in contact with it. He has written nothing that so searches the heart as this volume of "City Ballads."—Hartford Post.

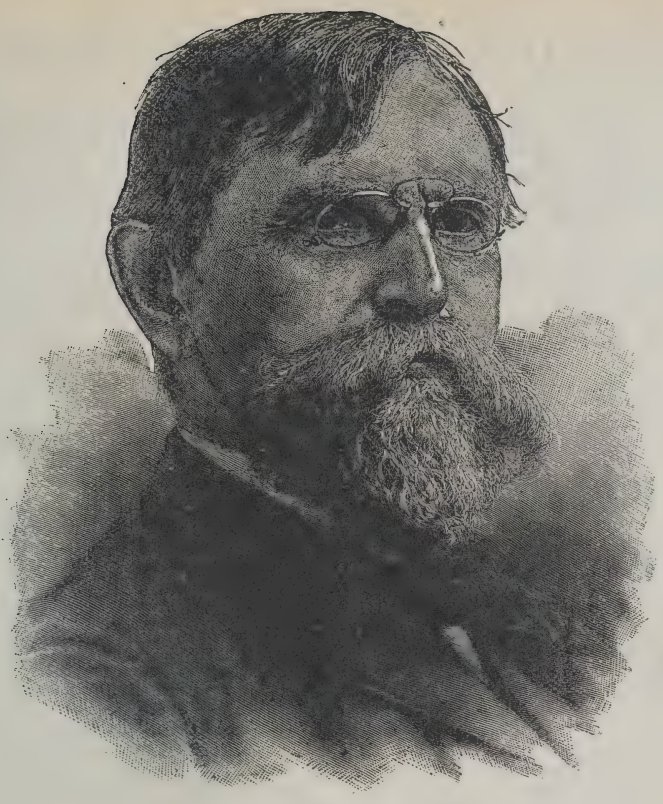
MAJOR-GENERAL GEORGE A. CUSTER.

Mrs. Custer's New Book of Army Life.

"BOOTS AND SADDLES;"



OR,

LIFE IN DAKOTA WITH GENERAL CUSTER.

By ELIZABETH B. CUSTER.

312 Pages. 12mo, Cloth, $1 50.

There have been few pieces of biographical writing more satisfactory than Mrs. Custer's unpretentious little book. Much of the charm of the work is due to the writer's entire self-forgetfulness, her unusual absorption in another, her singular lack of self-consciousness. The life she has undertaken to describe has its sun and centre for her in the personality of the hero who fell fighting in the battle of the Little Big Horn. He was the life of that life, its occasion, its motive, its central figure, and its sole source of interest for her. The author's faith in her subject's nobility and wisdom is so absolute and unquestioning that utter revelation is her supreme desire. Her confidence is complete that the most unreserved statement of whatever her hero did or said or thought or was must command admiration, and she therefore sets all forth lovingly, and with a degree of confident candor which is hardly to be matched elsewhere in the literature of biography.

BEN-HUR.

A TALE OF THE CHRIST.

By LEW. WALLACE.

560 Pages. 16mo, Cloth, $1.50.

A book of which you may expect great things, and not be disappointed.— Christian Secretary, Hartford, Conn.

In no sense is Christ the hero of the work. Sacred things are touched reverently and with much good judgment, usually in the very language of the evangelists.—Methodist Advocate, Atlanta, Ga.

One of the most remarkable and delightful books, not merely of our own times and land, but of all times and all lands. It is a work of fiction—the creation of a poet's genius.—Indianapolis Journal.

Though in the form of prose, it is in fact a poem. It is a book that will command the interest and admiration of Christian and infidel alike, whether his tastes bend towards romance, poetry, or history.—N. Y. Truth.

There was a strong picture in one of the London exhibitions, a few years since, representing a gladiatorial combat, not by a direct scene in the arena, but by its reflection in the faces of the spectators. In their countenances one could read the crisis of the combat, and the indirect testimony to the savagery of the scene was subtile and powerful. The conception was essentially modern, and it has been employed more than once in literature. It will be recognized in Browning's "Karshish," and finds a recent very full expression in General Wallace's "Ben-Hur."—Atlantic Monthly, Boston.

"The story is made interesting, notwithstanding the heaviness given by the stately forms of speech and the endeavor to be faithful to the manners of the time. The poem is written with unfailing care; there is not a trace of negligence or haste in it. It is always dignified; the persons are well individualized; the scenes of sentiment are very delicate; the songs are charming; the literary work thoroughly good. Mr. Williams' 'Princess Elizabeth,' like Mr. Tennyson's 'Queen Mary,' sets in a clear light certain passages of English history, and helps to fix in the memory the men and the events that the poet has used for his work."—Daily Advertiser, Boston.

ZELL'S ILLUSTRATED FAMILY BIBLE, with Explanatory, Critical, and Devotional Commentary. The cheapest illustrated high-class family Bible. The demand in the present day is more urgent and general than ever for an annotated Bible, simply treating "the oracles of God as their own interpreter, and enabling every serious reader to judge for himself what doctrines ought to be believed, and what duties practised, by the Christian." In short, the demand is for a "Popular Guide to the Meaning and Spirit of Holy Scripture"—a commentary which will best promote "those devotional and practical objects which ought to be mainly sought for and attained by the perusal of the Word of God." No commentary more fully possesses the characteristics referred to than Brown's Self-Interpreting Bible; and, to meet the present demand, the publisher has prepared this new and enlarged edition, which claims to be the best, most accurate, and most carefully edited of all the editions of this celebrated family Bible; and, having prepared, as companions to it, at great cost, a superb set of illustrative engravings, he now issues it under the name of Zell's Illustrated Family Bible. The Text contains the Old and New Testaments according to the Authorized Version, with marginal references and illustrations, a summary of the several Books, a paraphrase on the most important points, an analysis of, and practical and devotional reflections upon each chapter, and numerous explanatory notes. The Original Notes are explanatory, critical and devotional; are brief, apposite, free from parade of erudition, and directed to the simple end of assisting the reader to acquire a distinct understanding of the sacred text; and to these the publisher has added so many as 5,370 notes (found in no other edition), and which are inserted in the central columns. The Scripture References, both in Mr. Brown's notes and in the margins, have undergone strict revision and verification; and others in the margins, to the number of several thousands, have been added. The Contents of the Sacred Books, and their respective chapters, are an accurate, full, and explicatory representation of their subject. The Reflections practically sum up these contents, and "direct them home to the reader himself, for enlightening his understanding, awakening his conscience, warming his heart, and directing and animating his practice." The Illustrations will be found to differ widely from such Bible illustrations as have hitherto been current, and such as amply to warrant this edition being called distinctively The Illustrated Family Bible. They have all been selected with the view of helping out the Bible's teachings, are all addressed to the understanding or the heart, and are not designs intended merely to charm the eye. A number of them have been painted and engraved expressly for this edition, and others have been selected from the finest examples of the modern Continental Schools—one or two of which have never before been engraved—and none of which, with one exception, have ever appeared in an English Bible. The larger number of steel engravings are ideal subjects, replete with thought, aglow with poetry, fired with lofty conception, lifting meditative minds through the outward material of Bible facts to expatiate on their inward spirit. Two others, the only ones akin to landscape engravings, are a view of Mount Sinai and a view of the Garden of Gethsemane and the Mount of Olives, both from photographs. Two others exhibit the Sacred Tabernacle, and various objects connected with the ritual services, there or in the temple. The maps are beautifully printed in colors, and two of them are reductions from the Ordnance Survey Maps of Jerusalem, and Mount Sinai and district, and excel previous maps at once in fulness, accuracy and beauty. Six splendid chromo-lithographs give about one hundred figures of the principal animals and plants mentioned in the Bible; they give the figures in strict correctness of both outline and color, tested and approved by eminent zoologists and botanists; they are accompanied with letterpress, descriptive of the several animals and plants, and they serve, not merely to aid understanding of the Bible's direct notices of objects of natural history, but also, and eminently, to throw light on much of the gorgeous imagery in its prophetic, psalmodic, parabolic, and didactic passages. Besides all these, will be given an Illustrated Family Register. French morocco, full gilt. Subscription price, $30.00; our price, $10.00.

The publisher takes pleasure in offering to the public this edition of the Book of books, with its clear, open-faced type, presented on a large quarto page, its added matter covering hundreds of pages of helpful information most generously illustrated, and its other excellent features making it particularly a Bible for the family.

The Illustrated Bible Dictionary is carefully adapted to the wants of the Christian family, and contains modern and important excellences and improvements not obtainable from any other single source. It expounds the Scriptures in so able and interesting a manner as to be a special aid in obtaining a better understanding of Revealed Truth, and in producing an affection for the word of God so devoutly to be cherished by all who consult its sacred pages. The Illustrations are a marked feature of this Dictionary, and the pronunciation and meaning of Bible words are given.

In addition to the above, the Pictorial History of the Books of the Bible, the History of All Religions, the Life of our Saviour, with the most Prominent Events in Gospel History, together with the Scripture Illustrations, form a grand array of valuable and interesting illustrated matter, occupying its proper place in connection with the word of God, and aiding largely in getting at the correct interpretation of the sacred writers.

The work is finely illustrated after designs furnished by that prince of Biblical artists, Doré, to which are added many hundred engravings, illustrative of the Topography and History of the Holy Land, Jerusalem, and other noted places of Bible times; the Wanderings in the Wilderness; the Temple, etc.; Scenes and Incidents in the Sacred Scriptures; the Manners, Customs, Arts, Sciences, Laws, Religious Rites, Dwellings, Coins, Ornaments, Animals, Birds, Reptiles, and Insects mentioned in the Bible, with Maps and Plans; which are supplemented by a Title page in two colors; two brilliant full-page Illuminations; a most beautifully Illuminated Marriage Certificate; an Illuminated Family Record, in purple and gold, and a Family Album for sixteen portraits.

The publishers respectfully invite attention to the following commendations:

From Hon. J. P. WICKERSHAM, in the "School Journal," for May.

"The special object of this book is well expressed in the words of the preface: 'That a growing interest has been manifesting itself of late years in favor of the more extensive introduction of physical science into our public and select schools must be gratifying to all true friends of education. Heretofore these useful and interesting studies were almost entirely confined to high schools, academies, and colleges. The majority of children, never entering these advanced schools, remained, for the most part, ignorant of the first principles of natural science. Now, however, there is a waking up in regard to this branch of education. Many of our best educators are earnestly advocating its introduction into all our schools as soon as sufficiently advanced to understand its plainest principles. This felt want calls for suitable elementary works on science. The more extensive and elaborate works already before the public, however excellent for advanced pupils, are not adapted to the want in question. We need science simplified. To render some service in this department is the object of this manual. No claim is made to new ideas or theories. What was found necessary was to select, simplify, and arrange from the abundant matter already at hand.' The author is neither misinformed as to the want of a more extensive introduction of the study of natural science in our elementary schools, nor mistaken as to the means of supplying it. We must have suitable text-books on the subject, and this effort to furnish one is certainly praiseworthy. Interesting matter belonging to nearly all the natural sciences has been brought together and arranged in lessons. Facts are strewn along much as an observing child meets with them in nature. Nor are the perceptive powers the only ones called into requisition in the preparation of the lessons. Definitions and reasons appeal to the judgment, and, in the hands of a competent teacher, the whole mind may receive due culture. The book should have a large sale."

From W. G. LEHMAN, Esq., Supt. Com. Schools of Lebanon Co.

"Some well-arranged elementary work, by means of which a correct knowledge of the leading facts in natural science may be imparted, has long been felt as a want in the public schools. 'Easy Lessons in Natural Science' is well calculated to meet this want. In my opinion, its general use as a text-book in the public schools would result in much good."

Equally Valuable either as Text-books or as Works of Reference.

FACTS AND MYSTERIES OF SPIRITISM.

WITH A SEQUEL.

BY JOSEPH HARTMAN.

Pp. 378. 12mo. Cloth, $1.50.

Sent by mail, postpaid, on receipt of price.

A simple narrative of remarkable personal experiences, and investigations of spiritistic phenomena, continued through a period of several years, with an Appendix containing an account of some striking cases of obsession by spirits.

The book should be read by clergymen, physicians, lawyers, and judges who often have to consider cases of insanity; also by persons who have charge of the insane; and especially by those who are interested in the phenomena of modern Spiritualism.

Its contents are exceedingly varied, embracing topics solemn and grave, as well as the grotesque and ludicrous phases of spirit intercourse.

It is a book of unusual interest, containing a record of marvellous and instructive experiences, and adapted to meet a want of our times. Its perusal cannot fail to convince the reader of both the reality and the danger of intercourse with spirits, and the source of the impositions and frauds attending spirit manifestations.

NEW EDITION—REVISED AND ENLARGED,

THE BEST WORK ISSUED FOR

Carpenters, Builders and Mechanics.

FORTY-FOUR PLATES AND 200 FIGURES.

Carpentry Made Easy, by a practical Mechanic, who fully appreciates, from personal experience, that there are many things perplexing to understand and difficult to do until they are fully explained and tested. It is designed to make the science and art of Carpentry clear and comparatively easy to all who require information on the subject.

While it will be found indispensable to the learner, there are items of information worth ten times its price to any well-informed Carpenter.

It treats on the science and art of Framing on a new and improved system, with specific instructions for building Balloon Frames, Barn Frames, Mill Frames, Warehouses, Church Spires, etc. Also, a system of Bridge Building, with bills and estimates of cost, and valuable Tables.

PART I.—Treats on Geometry applied to Carpentry.

PART II.—Treats of the use of the Square in obtaining Bevels, Balloon Frames in all their departments; Roofs of all kinds, their proper pitch, length, width, dimensions, etc.; Church Spires, Domes, etc.

PART III.—Treats of Trestle, Arch, and Straining Beam Bridges, and general principles of Bridge Building.

PART IV.—Fully defines the terms and phrases used in the work, and explains the following tables, viz.: Table 1—Length of Common Rafters. Table 2—Length of Hip Rafters. Table 3—Octagonal Roofs. Table 4—Length of Braces. Table 5—Weight of Square Iron. Table 6—Weight of Flat Iron. Table 7—Weight of Round Iron. Table 8—Weight and Strength of Timber.

This book is also of use to all who have barns, bridges and outhouses to build, and require information how to accomplish the work.

The following testimonials will indicate the positive value of "Carpentry Made Easy," not only for the use of apprentices, but also experienced Carpenters and Builders. Hundreds of similar recommendations have been received.

SIR:—Enclosed please find Five Dollars ($5.00) for "Carpentry Made Easy."

Dear Sir, as I have examined the work thoroughly, I am more than pleased with it. With an experience of more than twenty-four years at carpentring, I may say it is the best work of the kind I have ever had the good fortune to meet with, as it gives more information for the amount of money, either to Master Workman or Journeyman, the principles being so different from other works of the kind, yet so plain that any apprentice should be able to comprehend them in a short time. The Rafter and Brace Table certainly is a great saving of thought and labor.

The work should be in the hands of all apprentices, and nine-tenths of the Journeymen. If it were, we would soon have good workmen, instead of half-hands and wood-butchers.

Most Respectfully,

JOHN J. NICHOLSON,
Carpenter and Builder, Conshohocken, Pa.

Another Carpenter says:

I am well pleased with Bell's Carpentry. Every Carpenter, whether old or young, should have one. It is just the book for a young beginner. No young man should attempt to learn the carpentry trade without first buying "The Art and Science of Carpentry Made Easy," by Wm. E. Bell.

From Hon. J. P. Wickersham, Supt. Public Instruction, Harrisburg, Pa.

I find it rich in good things, and always fresh. I would like to see a copy in every school and in every family in the land. Wherever found it will prove itself a never-failing well-spring of pleasure and instruction.

From Col. A. K. McClure, Editor "Philada. Times."

I sincerely hope that it may meet with that generous appreciation by the public that it so conspicuously merits. It is the best effort of the kind I can recall, and should have a large sale.

From Hon. Wm. A. Wallace.

It is a valuable compendium and exceedingly useful as a book of reference.

From Ex-Gov. Wm. Bigler, of Pennsylvania.

I have spent many pleasant hours over your late work, the "Treasury of Wisdom, Wit and Humor."

In perusing it one finds himself in the midst of rich productions of the past, which he cannot otherwise gather up without the expenditure of much time and some labor.

"Wit and humor," and great moral truths that had left their impression on my mind in my youth and early manhood, and then passed away, came back "like fond memories of the past." In this sense I commend your book sincerely.

From Ex-Gov. A. G. Curtin, of Pennsylvania.

I have looked through the book and congratulate you on your distinguished success as a judicious compiler.

From Lieut-Governor John Latta of Pennsylvania.

HON. ADAM WOOLEVER: Dear Sir—Your selections and their arrangement in the "Treasury of Wit and Wisdom" are excellent.

From Hon. Heister Clymer.

It is a magazine of wisdom, wit and humor, from which in the years to come I shall often be able to draw weapons of offence and defence.

From Hon. A. Brower Longaker, Judge of the 31st District.

Every scholar and student of human nature will owe you a debt of gratitude for the care and rare judgment you have exercised in gathering the precious gems and deepest thoughts of living and past thinkers, and the sparkling wit and humor which is interspersed on almost every page. The alphabetical and analytical arrangement is admirable, enabling the student at a glance to reach the quotation desired upon any given subject.

The cursory examination of the volume pleases me very much. I have seen nothing in it to offend good taste, good morals, or religion. The alphabetic arrangement of subjects, the names of the authors at the end of the volume, and the collection of English proverbs, with other good features, commend it very favorably to my judgment. I expect hereafter, frequently to be refreshed with draughts from its pleasant waters.

From Rev. Joseph A. Seiss, D.D., Philadelphia.

You have succeeded in gathering a vast casket of gems, and in displaying them in good order.

From Rev. E. Greenwald, D.D., Lancaster, Pa.

A collection of such valuable and beautiful utterances on such an immense number and variety of subjects is a great convenience to all literary and professional men.

From Rev. Charles F. Schaeffer, D.D., Philadelphia.

You are entitled to the hearty thanks of every scholar and of every gentleman of taste and judgment, for the wonderful compilation of such valuable material.

Every student of books or human nature will owe a debt of gratitude to Mr. Adam Woolever, who gives us his "Treasury of Wisdom, Wit and Humor, Odd Comparisons and Proverbs," the result of fifteen years' labor.

"This is a book which we should think any boy or girl would be glad to get and read. The pieces are mostly prose; all are brief; all teach, generally by anecdote, and in a pleasant way, the simpler lessons of morality and religion. The author has evidently striven to produce a book that will be of real service in influencing the young to pursue those courses that lead to a noble manhood and womanhood. It is a good book for the Sunday-school library and the home circle."—Morning Star. (Dover, N. H.)

plates, and a paper manikin. The "Home Hand Book" tells in plain every-day language, how to preserve health, and if lost how to regain it. It is written in the light of the most recent scientific investigation by a physician of large experience and acknowledged ability, and contains the most approved methods for the treatment of more than 600 diseases. The most complete and comprehensive work of the kind ever issued from the press.

Muslin, richly embossed in jet and gold, 6.50

Library, extra heavy leather, cloth hinges, 7.50

"The large amount of information it contains and the conservatism and soundness of the author's views render it a work of great value to families and others who require a reliable medical guide. The author appears to have been guided by the most enlightened views in the preparation of this volume, and we have no doubt that most of his suggestions will be endorsed by the best medical authorities."

—Philadelphia Press.

"It is a wonderful book, the wealth of information is almost bewildering, and the research that has enabled the author to produce and collect such a mass of material, so fully adapted to the individual, the family, and society, is simply amazing. I have never seen any work so comprehensive, of such varied information, and better, or rather more systematic, in its arrangement."

John B. Gough.

LADIES' GUIDE IN HEALTH AND DISEASE. GIRLHOOD, MAIDENHOOD, WIFEHOOD, MOTHERHOOD. By J. H. Kellogg, M. D. "Very much of the physical feebleness and unwise methods of women, both as regards themselves and their daughters, is the result of ignorance. This work of Dr. Kellogg's supplies the information which will tend to enlighten them. Thoroughlyscientific,practical, and clear in conception and utterance, I do not hesitate to recommend it as admirably suited to the remedy of the evils it exposes. Its author is a philanthropist, a physician, a reformer, and a man of high moral character; and it is a matter for thankfulness that he has prepared this work."

151 WABASH AVENUE, CHICAGO.

WE make a specialty of supplying Books for Teachers, either of our own or published by others, and keep the largest stock of these books of any one in the U. S. We invite orders from booksellers because we think we can often save them much time and correspondence, and our prices are usually the same as the publishers themselves.

OUR OWN LINE

Of these books is unsurpassed for freshness and salability, and is constantly being advertised in mediums that reach teachers. Booksellers who trade much with teachers should keep at least a small stock of our books constantly on hand. We offer special inducements on orders of $50 worth or over of our own publications purchased at one time or during one month.

Our new 84-page catalogue, describing our own publications and 250 professional books for teachers, that we keep constantly in stock, will be mailed to any bookseller for a two-cent stamp.

THE MEDICAL NEWS.

A NATIONAL WEEKLY MEDICAL PERIODICAL CONTAINING 28–32 QUARTO PAGES OF READING MATTER IN EACH NUMBER.
PUBLISHED EVERY SATURDAY.

Uniting the scholarship of a weekly magazine with the energy of a daily newspaper, THE MEDICAL NEWS renders a service of especial value to the profession. As a magazine, it contains Original Articles and Lectures by the ablest writers and teachers of the day, judicious Excerpts and Translations from the medical, pharmaceutical and scientific periodicals of the world, and numerous Editorials from the pens of a large and able Editorial Board. As a newspaper, it maintains a corps of reporters and correspondents in all the medical centres of the globe, and receives by telegraph prompt and accurate reports of Society Meetings, and other matters of immediate interest. It is thus enabled to present, without loss of time, in each issue, the advance of knowledge attained in the medical sciences during the previous seven days. Ample space is devoted to News Items and Correspondence, and to the weekly official list of changes in the Army and Navy Medical Departments. In typographical arrangement everything has been done to economize the time and to promote the comfort of its readers. The subscription price of THE NEWS has been fixed at the very low sum of FIVE DOLLARS per annum.

The American Journal of the Medical Sciences.

A QUARTERLY, PUBLISHED ON THE FIRST DAYS OF JANUARY, APRIL, JULY AND OCTOBER, EACH NUMBER CONTAINING OVER 300 LARGE OCTAVO PAGES, FULLY ILLUSTRATED.
I. MINIS HAYS, A.M., M.D., EDITOR.

With the year 1886 THE AMERICAN JOURNAL OF THE MEDICAL SCIENCES became in Great Britain the recognized organ of the profession—a position similar to that occupied by it in America for sixty-six years. On its announcement, this project for an international journal was welcomed abroad with acclamation, and one hundred and thirty-five of the foremost English practitioners authorized the use of their names as contributors in order to aid in extending over their country the benefits which American medicine has enjoyed from the existence of THE JOURNAL during two generations. This friendly challenge was accepted by an almost equal number of Americans, to whose proved ability this country can well afford to entrust her reputation. The subscription price of THE AMERICAN JOURNAL has never been raised during its long career; it is still furnished for FIVE DOLLARS per annum.

Together, THE AMERICAN JOURNAL and THE MEDICAL NEWS contain an equivalent of over 4000 octavo pages, in which duplication of matter is prevented by special management. They will be furnished together at a commutation rate of NINE DOLLARS per annum, in advance.

LEE AND SHEPARD'S
FALL ANNOUNCEMENTS
1887-1888

MISS JEROME'S "PERPETUAL PLEASURE" SERIES

"The sketches are such as the most famous man of the country might be proud to own. They are original, strong, and impressive, even the lightest of them; and their variety, like the procession of Nature, is a perpetual pleasure."

THE FAVORITE OF THE SEASON

A BUNCH OF VIOLETS

Gathered by IRENE E. JEROME, author of "Nature's Hallelujah," "One Year's Sketch Book," etc.

Engraved on wood and printed under the direction of George T. Andrew. 4to, cloth, $3.75; Turkey morocco, $9.00; tree calf, $9.00; English seal style, $7.00.

The new volume is akin to the former triumphs of this favorite artist, whose "Sketch Books" have achieved a popularity unequalled in the history of fine art publications. In the profusion of designs, originality and delicacy of treatment, the charming sketches of mountain, meadow, lake, and forest scenery of New England here reproduced are unexcelled. After the wealth of illustration which this student of nature has poured into the lap of art, to produce a volume in which there is no deterioration of power or beauty, but if possible increased strength and enlargement of ideas, gives assurance that the foremost female artist in America will hold the hearts of her legion of admirers.

"A VOLUME OF ALLURING BEAUTY."— Cambridge Chronicle.

NATURE'S HALLELUJAH

By IRENE E. JEROME

Author and artist of "One Year's Sketch Book," and "The Message of the Bluebird."

Presented in a series of nearly fifty full-page illustrations (9¼ x 14 inches), engraved on wood by George T. Andrew. Elegantly bound in gold cloth, full gilt, gilt edges, $6.00; Turkey morocco, $12.00; tree calf, $12.00; English seal style, $10.00.

This volume has won the most cordial praise on both sides of the water. Mr. Francis H. Underwood, U. S. Consul at Glasgow, writes concerning it: "I have never seen anything superior, if equal, to the delicacy and finish of the engravings and the perfection of the press-work. The copy you sent me has been looked over with evident and unfeigned delight by many people of artistic taste. Every one frankly says: 'It is impossible to produce such effects here,' and, whether it is possible or not, I am sure it is not done; no such effects are produced on this side of the Atlantic. In this combination of art and workmanship the United States leads the world; and you have a right to be proud of the honor of presenting such a specimen to the public."

"AN ENRAVISHING TOUCH OF NATURE."— Chicago Student.

ONE YEAR'S SKETCH BOOK

Containing forty-six full-page illustrations, engraved on wood by Andrew; in same bindings and at same prices as "Nature's Hallelujah."

"Every thick, creamy page is embellished by some gems of art. Sometimes it is but a dash and a few trembling strokes; at others an impressive landscape, but in all and through all runs the master touch. Miss Jerome has the genius of an Angelo, and the execution of a Guido. The beauty of the sketches will be apparent to all, having been taken from our unrivalled New England scenery."— Washington Chronicle.

"A PERFECT LITTLE GEM."— Philadelphia American.

THE MESSAGE OF THE BLUEBIRD

TOLD TO ME TO TELL TO OTHERS

By IRENE E. JEROME

New holiday edition in dainty binding. Engraved on wood by Andrew. Cloth and gold, $2.00; Palatine boards, ribbon ornaments, $1.00.

"In its new binding is one of the daintiest combinations of song and illustration ever published, exhibiting in a marked degree the fine poetic taste and wonderfully artistic touch, which render this author's works so popular. The pictures are exquisite, and the verses exceedingly graceful, appealing to the highest sensibilities. The little volume ranks among the choicest of holiday souvenirs, and is beautiful and pleasing."— Boston Transcript.

FINE ART NOVELTIES

Sir Walter Scott's Poem

THE BRIDAL OF TRIERMAIN

With fourteen full-page illustrations by PERCY MACQUOID, R. I. Oblong quarto size, 10½ x 14. Bound in gold cloth, price $3.00; in decorative woods (a new and effective binding), price $4.00 (about); Turkey morocco gilt, $9.00; tree calf, $9.00.

The powerful illustrations which accompany the poem are broad sketches, after the manner of the Spanish painters Fortuny and Madrazzo, representing the modern school of black and white, and are at once original, effective, and pleasing.

NEW EDITION OF "THE TRIUMPH OF FICTILE ART"

PLASTIC SKETCHES

By J. G. and J. F. LOW, the famous tile artists, being a series of forty-seven designs, 10 x 12 inches, in satin portfolios of unique design. Price $10.00.

There is a wonderful fascination about the sketches which no one can resist. We begin to realize how deep is our indebtedness to photography, too, when we can possess such wonderfully realistic reproductions of Mr. Arthur Osborne's world-renowned "Plastic Sketches." Delightful as was the impression made by the originals, it was hardly possible even to survey them collectively, and only the favored few could secure to themselves the right to possess even a limited selection of them. Here, however, thanks to the publishers' enterprise, the entire collection is placed within our easy reach, bringing a rare and genuine pleasure to our very doors. — Literary News.

MISCELLANEOUS BOOKS

TWO NEW VOLUMES BY MISS DOUGLAS

THE FORTUNES OF THE FARADAYS

ADAM AND EVE IN A GARDEN

Uniform with Lee and Shepard's Library Series of the Douglas Novels. 18 vols. Cloth, $1.50 per vol.

This that was said of "The Woman's Inheritance" will apply to the new stories: "This author's books have uniformly met with a warm reception on all hands, on account of their freshness, vivacity and good taste. This particular one will not fall below its predecessors in any of these points. As to the mechanical part of its make-up, we doubt if a more handsome, tasty, unobtrusive volume could be made, — just the book to take." — Pittsburg Advocate.

A VETERAN'S HALF CENTURY.

LIFE NOTES; OR, FIFTY YEARS' OUTLOOK

By Rev. Wm. Hague, D. D., the eloquent and scholarly Baptist clergyman. Cloth, $1.50.

Dr. Hague's work is one of rare reminiscences, embracing an important period in our country's religious and philanthropic history. It abounds in the most readable narratives, worthy of public attention, written in charmingly simple language, and furnishes a valuable record of contemporaneous matters of a varied character, which will be appreciated alike by the scholar and the layman. Coming from the pen of so conspicuous a figure in the events of the last half century, it cannot fail to command the popular interest of a large number of readers in the United States and in Europe.

DANTON IN THE FRENCH REVOLUTION

By Lawrence Gronlund, author of "The Co-Operative Commonwealth," an exposition of Modern Socialism. The author claims in this new book that Danton's work really saved France, and he places the responsibility for the bloodshed from 1789 to 1792, not upon the Socialists, but upon those whom he terms "Counter Revolutionists." This remarkable book will embrace the period from 1748 to the present time, and probes into the great social questions which now agitate society, with characteristic vigor and ability. Price, cloth $1.00 (about).

A NOTABLE WORK ON OCCULT SCIENCE

THE HIDDEN WAY ACROSS THE THRESHOLD

Or, The Mystery Which Hath Been Hidden for Ages and from Generations.

An explanation of the concealed forces in every man to open the temples of the soul and to learn the guidance of the unseen hand. Illustrated and made plain with as few occult terms as possible, by J. C. Street, A. B. N. Octavo. Cloth. 600 pp. Illustrated. $3.50.

"The author's experience in many years of travel through the East, having access to occult orders, adepts, Lamas and Hierophants in Oriental countries, is startling. He claims to give the first light of knowledge of the Oracle of Delphi in the English language, of which there is an illustrated chart with description. There are many strange illustrations throughout the volume, which must cause much comment in the religious world."

LIFE AND TIMES OF WENDELL PHILLIPS

By George Lowell Austin. With Steel Portrait and Illustrations. 12mo. Cloth, $1.50. The only complete life of the great agitator issued.

These books are well illustrated, and the fact that the learned author has carefully revised them to harmonize with recent progress and development in agriculture, renders them suitable guides for those practising advanced methods in farming.

MILCH COWS AND DAIRY FARMING

The Breeds, Breeding, and Management, in Health and Disease, of Dairy and other Stock, the Selection of Milch Cows, with a full explanation of Guenon's Method, the Culture of Forage Plants, etc., etc. By CHARLES L. SOPHIE MAY'S ROMANCE

DRONES' HONEY

12mo. Cloth, $1.50

"There is a freshness and beauty about the love-making, a charming reticence, which is delightful. The story s thoroughly unconventional, and the incidents follow each other with a naturalness which makes the book unusually real, while it is full of an interest which never flags. Sophie May has won a success in this new field of fiction no less marked than she had already secured in juvenile literature, and 'Drones' Honey' cannot fail to be one of the most popular novels of the summer." —Boston Courier.

ROBERT COLLYER'S LECTURES TO YOUNG MEN

The author of "Life That Now Is," "The Simple Truth," "Nature and Life," presents in this new work the vigor of thought, the eloquence of expression, and the many quaint and original ways of "putting things" which have made his other books so popular.

THE ART OF PROJECTING

By Prof. A. E. DOLBEAR, inventor of the telephone. New Edition, $1.50.

The treatise points out in the clearest manner to teachers of Physical Science, and to others who may be interested in experimentation, the usefulness of the Magic Lantern, the Porte Lumiere, and a few other pieces of apparatus, which can mostly be extemporized. The volume contains profuse diagrams, illustrating numerous features of the science, as recently discovered, and will be a standard authority on the manifold scientific matters grouped in the art of projecting.

PLASTIC SKETCHES.

By J. G. and J. F. Low, the famous tile artists, being a series of designs, making forty-seven original photogravures, 10 x 12 inches, in satin portfolio. Price, $10.00.

"This house has recently issued an Art Work, which is unique in the field of Art literature, and is one of the handsomest, most tasteful, and most liberal publications of the season. We refer to 'Plastic Sketches,' a veritable portfolio, consisting of a series of Albertype pictures reproduced from the famous Chelsea tile-pictures first given to the world about six years ago by Messrs. J. G. and J. F. Low, of Chelsea, Mass. By aid of the camera, wonderful copies of these tiles have been made, so natural in appearance that he who delightedly turns the pages of this magnificent work cannot easily dispossess himself of the fancy that they stand from the paper in actual relief. This work is destined to become famous everywhere, and among all people, art students, designers, and lovers of the beautiful of all classes." — Philadelphia Item.

NATURE'S HALLELUJAH.

By Irene E. Jerome, Author and Artist of "One Year's Sketch Book," and "The Message of the Bluebird."

Presented in a series of nearly fifty full-page illustrations (9½ x 14 inches), engraved on wood by George T. Andrew. Elegantly bound in gold cloth, full gilt, gilt edges, $6.00; Turkey morroco, $12.00; tree calf, $12.00; Spanish calf, $12.00.

"It was thought that the author of 'One Year's Sketch Book' had in that work reached the limit of possible excellence in decorative design, but it is generally conceded that the 'Hallelujah' surpasses that and everything else in that line. The book is a work of art set in gold; a sermon from nature to arrest the attention and impress the mind with the love of God. Choice verses are scattered among the exquisite sketches. One of the best literary features of the work is the introduction from the artist's own pen. There are nearly a hundred large full-page sketches of birds and flowers, children and landscapes, — all beautiful, some quaint, with here and there a delicate bit of humor thrown in, and quaint conceits and dainty bits of pretty suggestiveness sparkling all the way through. In thought and execution, in imaginative and in mechanical work, the book doubtless takes the first rank among the fine gift-books of the season. Its devotional tone and pervading spirit of gentleness and love, of serenity and faith, will commend it especially at Christmas-tide." — The Living Church.

ONE YEAR'S SKETCH BOOK.

By Irene E. Jerome. An Original Series of Illustrations from Nature, comprising forty-six full-page Pictures (9½ x 14 inches) of great power and beauty, engraved on wood by Geo. T. Andrew, in the best manner. The volume is elegantly bound in gold cloth, full gilt, gilt edges, $6.00; Turkey morocco, $12.00; tree calf, $12.00; Spanish calf, $12.00.

"After looking through this sketch-book, and lingering over each page, which seems more beautiful than the last, we unhesitatingly say it is the most beautiful book of the kind we ever saw. It is 'Nature's Art Gallery'— a whole year — spring, summer, autumn, winter, are exquisitely represented by drawings of landscape, flowers, birds, woodland scenes, etc. Each page contains one of these illustrations, executed in the finest wood engraving, on paper of the most delicate texture and tint, and each has a fitting verse or line describing it, by some well-known poet. The conception of such a book could only have originated in the mind of an artist, and a master-hand could only have carried it out. The publishers have used their utmost skill in producing this volume, making it an elegant gift." — Christian Observer.

"THE MESSAGE OF THE BLUEBIRD, Told to Me to Tell to Others."

An Illustrated Souvenir. By Irene E. Jerome, Author and Designer of "One Year's Sketch Book." Engraved on Wood, under the direction of George T. Andrew.

Eight full-page illustrations, wood-cuts, printed on plated paper, are enclosed in covers of "Imperial Antique," knotted with silk floss, and neatly packed in an attractive box. $1.00. Cloth and Gold, $2.00.

"A beautiful idea, beautifully carried out." — St. Paul Presbyterian.

"Worth untold money to the grown-up baby." — Buffalo Advertiser.

ORCHIDS: THE ROYAL FAMILY OF PLANTS.

With Illustrations from Nature by HARRIET STEWART MINER, comprising twenty-four Magnificent Specimens in Colors, each 10 x 14 inches, reproductions of some of the most celebrated and costly varieties of this peculiar branch of the floral kingdom. The volume is fourteen inches in length, eleven inches wide, one and one half inches in thickness; gilt edges, bevelled boards, and richly adorned in black and gold, making a beautiful book. Cloth, full gilt, $15.00; Turkey morocco, $30.00; tree calf, $30.00; cloth portfolio, $15.00.

"The plates are the finest specimens of art printing ever produced in any country. There is n't a shade of tint in the original flower that is not faithfully reproduced, not with a mere mechanical nicety of imitation, but the life and spirit of the flower is given. It is a bouquet which is nature itself, in everything but the odor. What the cost of the volume is only the publishers and printers know; but to make such illustrations, so full and complete, — they being simple reproductions of the flowers in all their life and beauty, — must have required an outlay of capital that would frighten any one who had not full faith in the love of the people for the beautiful." – Toledo Blade.

THE GUEST BOOK.

In which may be recorded the coming and the going of guests; with pages for autographs, incidents and sketches pertaining to pleasant visits, social circles and other gatherings. Uniform in style with "Baby's Kingdom." Invented and Illustrated by ANNIE F. COX. Printed in colors. In rich binding. LEE AND SHEPARD'S HANDBOOKS

HANDBOOK OF BLUNDERS

Designed to prevent 1,000 common Blunders in writing and speaking By HARLAN H. BALLARD, A. M., Principal of Lenox Academy, Lenox, Mass. 50 cents.

"If he who corrects one blunder in the use of the English language deserves well, how much does he deserve who corrects a thousand?"— Book Notes.

"The habit of accurate and grammatical speech is one that deserves to be a good deal more assiduously cultivated than it is. So easy is it to fall into colloquialisms, and current inaccuracies, that few, we fancy, will turn over the pages of this little handbook without finding some weakness of their own in the use of English exposed. The volume will be worth its slight cost several times over to any one who will study and heed its suggestions."— Boston Journal.

UNIVERSAL PHONOGRAPHY

Or, Short-hand by the "Allen Method." A self-instructor, whereby more speed than long-hand writing is gained at the first lesson, and additional speed at each subsequent lesson By G. G. ALLEN, Principal of the Allen Stenographic Institute, Boston. 50 cents.

☞ There is scarcely any requirement so helpful to the student, scholar, scientist, or professional man, as short-hand writing. Heretofore, all methods have required so long a time before one could become so proficient as to make it of any advantage, that men in middle life, or busy men, have not been able to give the time to learn it; but, by the "Allen Method," one can almost in "the idle moments of a busy life," certainly in an hour a day for two or three months, become so expert as to report a lecture verbatim.

HANDBOOK OF LIGHT GYMNASTICS

By LUCY B. HUNT, Instructor in Gymnastics at Smith (Female) College, Northampton, Mass. 50 cents.

"This manual is admirably adapted for the use of teachers and pupils in public and private schools, and in seminaries and colleges, as well as a guide to health-giving exercises in the homes, especially for girls. Well-arranged series of exercises are given in free gymnastics, wand exercises, ring exercises, dumb-bells, procession, mutual-help exercises, bean-bags, marching, and a practical chapter on dress suitable for gymnastic exercises to be taken in. All these exercises have been carefully selected and thoroughly tested, and can be safely practised by any person in ordinary health."— Journal of Education.

"Mr. Bigelow's book is a practical treatment of the subject, and enlarges the reading-public's obligations to him."— Atlantic Monthly.

THE STARS AND THE EARTH

Or, Thoughts upon Space, Time, and Eternity. With an Introduction by THOMAS HILL, D. D., LL. D., late President of Harvard University. 50 cents.

"It is poetic in its suggestions, and leaves the impression that nature gives the cue to things hidden and mysterious. There is no dogmatic conclusion, and yet the dogmas of omnipresence and omniscience are elucidated by it. In less than one hundred pages is much and deep philosophy."— Boston Commonwealth.

First we have a thorough review of the discoveries in electricity, then of magnetism, then of those in the study of sound, — pitch, velocity, timbre, tone, resonance, sympathetic vibrations, etc. From these the telephone is reached and by them in a measure explained." — Hartford Courant.

Nor is the book any the worse for its wholesome moral trend." — Herald and Presbyter.

BROKEN ENGLISH

A Frenchman's Struggle with the English Language. Interesting as a narrative, instructive as a handbook of French conversation By Professor E. C. DUBOIS. 50 cents; Paper, 30 cents.

"A decidedly amusing as well as instructive narrative, showing the trials and vexations a foreigner must endure in learning our language. The idea of the author in thus presenting the two languages in dialogue form was a happy one, and will be as good a study for the Yankee as the Frenchman. The two languages are presented on alternate pages line for line, and create equal interest." — San Jose Mercury.

SHORT STUDIES OF AMERICAN AUTHORS

By THOMAS WENTWORTH HIGGINSON. 50 cents.

"Colonel Higginson is an author, essayist, critic, and historian of marked ability, but in none of his works does he appear to greater advantage than in these graceful and documentary sketches. We strongly doubt that any more elegant and appreciative tributes to the genius of Hawthorne, Poe, or Thoreau were ever written than the delightful papers by the author of 'An Oldport Romance,' and 'Army Life in a Black Regiment.'" — Kingston Freeman.

"An invaluable little manual for an active lad, or indeed for anybody with limber joints and a taste for out-of-door amusements is Manton's "Insects." It tells what outfit the amateur bug-hunter should supply himself with, how he should treat his specimens when he captures them, and what he must do with them when he gets them home in order to preserve them in his cabinet. It is so beautifully written and illustrated that it makes the reviewer crave to lay hands on a net once more and sally forth into the fields." — Syracuse Herald.

It instructs in the art of using the instrument, and shows how objects can be prepared for examination. Its simplicity is very valuable, and the young student will receive hints which will lead the way to the use of larger treatises. We commend it heartily to those who are beginning to study closely God's works in the world of nature." — Christian Intelligencer.

Dr. Dixon, in this little "Emergency Handbook," gives simple directions what to do in a number of the most common cases that arise, either in home treatment of slight accidents or indispositions, or in the case of patients in more serious cases, until the arrival of the physician. EXERCISES FOR THE IMPROVEMENT OF THE SENSES

For Young Children By HORACE GRANT Edited by Willard Small. 50 cents.

"These exercises were prepared for the purpose of providing instruction and amusement for children who are too young to learn to read and write. Their special object is to excite little children to examine surrounding objects correctly, so that valuable knowledge may be acquired, while the attention, memory, judgment, and invention are duly exercised. They consist of questions on familiar objects, concerning the senses and the body. There is a list of games given for young people." — Literary News.

HINTS ON LANGUAGE

In connection with Sight Reading and Writing in Primary and Intermediate Schools By S. ARTHUR BENT, A. M., Superintendent of the Public Schools of Clinton, Mass. 50 cts.

"The book, like all other published works of Mr. Bent, shows preparatory thought on the subject treated, and care in every line of the composition. He takes up 'sight reading and writing in connection with primary and intermediate schools,' and discusses every feature of the subject in such a plain and forcible way, giving more than a thousand valuable hints, that the work is not only attractive to the general reader, but of incalculable value to the professional educator. — Nashua Telegraph.

FIVE-MINUTE DECLAMATIONS

For School and College Selected and adapted by WALTER K. FOBES, Teacher of Elocution and Public Reader, author of "Elocution Simplified," etc. 50 cents.

"It comprises one hundred selections, not one of which requires over five minutes in declaiming. The selections are made from orations, speeches, and sermons with fine judgment, and with an eye to bringing out feeling, passion, fire, etc. Each selection has been subjected to the test of reading aloud, and is a declamation in the proper sense of the term." — Home Journal.

FIVE-MINUTE RECITATIONS

For School and College Selected and adapted by WALTER K. FOBES, Elocutionist and Public Reader. 50 cents.

"The title of this book explains itself. Any selection in it can be recited in five minutes, and in this respect it is unique. Mr. Fobes's experience has enabled him to make the book a valuable collection of prose and poetry, which every schoolboy would do well to purchase. It must meet with hearty public approval." — New Bedford Standard.

FIVE-MINUTE READINGS

For Young Ladies Edited by WALTER K. FOBES. Uniform with "Five-Minute Declamations" and "Five-Minute Recitations." 50 cents.

"This volume evinces general reading and good taste in the author. It differs from some of its class in that many of the selections are from modern authors. We do not see why readings that are suitable for girls should not, generally, be adapted to boys also. Yet the title is a good 'catch.' The selections are among the most chaste and elegant in the language." — Journal and Messenger.

FORGOTTEN MEANINGS

"A valuable little book, embracing a collection of words whose etymology, when rightly understood, is full of instruction. "'Educational Psychology,' by Mrs. Louisa Parsons Hopkins, is the digest of a course of lectures given to the normal class of the Swain Free School in New Bedford, and is the result of long and attentive observation of mental phenomena and development, careful reading, and original thought. It is a compact volume, giving in condensed form a great amount of valuable matter. There is increasing call for works of this kind; and one so sound, clear, and complete as 'Educational Psychology' will be cordially welcomed by parents and teachers." — Cambridge Tribune.

THE NATION IN A NUTSHELL

A Rapid Outline of American History By GEORGE MAKEPEACE TOWLE, author of "Young People's History of England," "Young People's History of Ireland," etc. 50 cents.

"It begins with an account of the earliest known or supposed inhabitants of our continent; treats briefly but clearly of the eras of colonization and colonial growth; describes the causes and rise of the Revolution, the formation of the Constitution and government, the Presidents, the wars of 1812 and Mexico, and the Civil War; and brings the record of events down to the present day. It has also chapters on our growth in literature, the arts and sciences, material interests and inventions, and on the political changes which have taken place in recent years. It is intended for such readers as desire, by a rapid glance, to survey the main features and landmarks of American history, and who have not the time to peruse the more comprehensible histories." — New Bedford Mercury.

MISTAKES IN WRITING ENGLISH AND HOW TO AVOID THEM

For the Use of all who teach, write, or speak the Language By MARSHALL T. BIGELOW, Author of "Punctuation and other Typographical Matters."

"This is one of the most practical and systematic books in its kind that has as yet appeared. It is particularly commendable in avoiding the chance arrangement of matter which has so confusingly characterized other guides devoted to the same subject. Here everything is set forth in proper order, and reference is aided by the admirable grouping of the various sources of error under appropriate headings. This little volume will be found a serviceable friend on the library table of every writer." — Sat. Evening Gazette.

WARRINGTON'S MANUAL

"The substance of this treatise formed the basis of a course of lectures at Lowell Institute last year. Cuts, diagrams, and charts illustrate the text; and the whole subject, which recent calamities have made so intensely interesting to us of the United States, is treated very lucidly on the basis of facts, and of the best and latest scientific speculation." — Buffalo Express.

BRIDGE DISASTERS IN AMERICA

The Cause and the Remedy By Prof. George L. Vose. Author of "Manual for Railroad Engineers and Engineering Students," etc., etc. 50 cents.

"How to ensure the safety of bridges and to prevent loss of life by those who pass over them, surely ought to be a question of most vital interest, and Prof. Vose's thorough knowledge of the subject enables him to give a practical solution of the problem. It is a book that should be carefully read by all and especially by those who are in any way responsible for the maintenance or construction of bridges. He demonstrates that bridges can be constructed in such manner as to prevent the disasters which are repeatedly occurring, and that ignorance, shortsightedness and criminal negligence are alone responsible for the large loss of life in recent years on account of faultily constructed bridges."—Springfield Union.

HINTS ON WRITING AND SPEECH-MAKING

By Thomas Wentworth Higginson. Author of "Young Folks' History of United States," "Atlantic Essays," "Oldport Days," "Short Studies from American Authors." 50 cents.

The following from the author's Preface shows the purpose of this volume: —

"The first of these two chapters appeared long since in the 'Atlantic Monthly,' and was afterwards included in the author's volume entitled 'Atlantic Essays.' Teachers have several times urged that it should be reprinted as a little manual of literary composition; and I have indeed seen it used for that purpose in a college classroom. Now that similar suggestions are beginning to come in respecting the other brief essay, 'Hints on Speech-making,' it has seemed well to present the two together in a small volume. The last-named paper appeared first in 'Harper's Magazine' for November, 1886; and it is here reprinted with the consent of the publishers."

A FEW THOUGHTS FOR A YOUNG MAN

By Horace Mann. A new edition. 50 cents.

"This volume is full of the wisest counsel, given in very attractive and winning language, which is embellished with sparkling wit and interesting anecdote. It is a rare little book, by an eminent author, and is worthy of a place in every household. The treatise has been so often sought after by the general public, that it is again republished in its original form. The late Mrs. Mann, who wrote the preface to her husband's book, says, 'Nothing the author ever wrote has been so universally popular.'"

HANDBOOK OF DEBATE

The Character of Julius Caesar. Adapted from J. Sheridan Knowles. Arranged for practice in Speaking, for Debating Clubs, and Classes in Public and Private Schools. With Notes for the Forming and Guidance of Debating Societies, and a list of subjects for debate. 50 cents.

"This work may be considered a model worthy to be adopted for use in societies and clubs organized to cultivate powers of elocution and oratory, and to teach the art of skilful debate, the knowledge of which enables the possessor to wield great influence in public and deliberative assemblies. As a ready handbook for debating societies' use it is unequalled." ——

ENGLISH SYNONYMS DISCRIMINATED

By Richard Whately, D. D., Archbishop of Dublin. A new edition. 50 cents.

While especially adapted to the use of writers and those who desire to express themselves in exact and discriminating terms, this book will be of interest to every one who may wish to gain more precision in the use of our language. In compiling this valuable work, the accomplished author has departed from the customary methods, and has not contented himself with giving merely the apparent synonyms in the language, but elaborates on the nice distinction in the meaning of common words, usually considered synonymous terms. In this feature consists the especial importance of Dr. Whately's volume.

Henry Irving's recent production of "Faust" has revived popular interest in Goethe's great poem, one of the masterpieces of all time, which has a perennial interest for all students of literature, all lovers of poetry and philosophy.

The publishers have pleasure in presenting the poem in this interesting and popular way, the etchings being the outcome of much thought and study on the part of an artist in love with his subject.

Half-Hours with American History.

Selected and arranged by CHARLES MORRIS. 2 vols. Crown 8vo. Uniform with "Half-Hours with the Best American Authors." Cloth, gilt top. $3.00. Half morocco. $5.00. Three-quarters calf. $6.50.

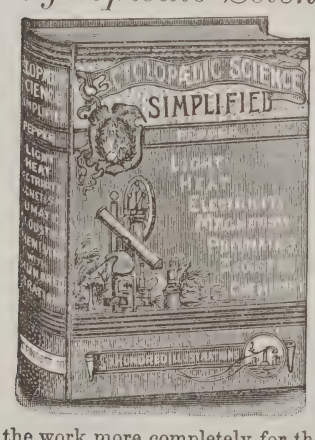
In history as in general literature authors often appear to most advantage in selected extracts from their works, since no man can be always at his best. Led by this consideration, the publishers have deemed it desirable to add to their "Half-Hours with the Best American Authors" a companion work of "Half-Hours with American History," which they hope may be found to have a special value of its own. The subject is certainly one of the highest interest and importance, while many of the works from which selections have been made are beyond the reach of general readers, and often too voluminous for the taste and leisure of others than students of history.

The extracts from historians have not been grouped, as in the preceding work mentioned, with a studied avoidance of systematic arrangement, but are presented in chronological succession, as more in accordance with their character, divided into historical eras, and joined by connecting links, each giving in brief outline a sketch of the intermediate events.

Ida Waugh's Alphabet Book.

Large 4to. 9 x 11 inches. Printed in two colors, on heavy paper. Bound in attractive illuminated cover. $1.00.

"For little ones, who, if they look,
Will find their letters in this book."



The great success of Miss Waugh's previous efforts for children promises for this book for the little ones a great welcome. The text is by Amy Blanchard, who has before been associated with Miss Waugh.

Esther. A BOOK FOR GIRLS.

A Story for Girls. By ROSA NOUCHETTE CAREY, author of "Not Like Other Girls." Illustrated. Cloth, gilt. $1.25.

The domestic stories of English life that this author has written have been well received, and she will, as a juvenile writer, be heartily welcomed by the younger readers. Everything from her pen is pleasing and bright.

Cyclopædic Science Simplified.

By J. H. PEPPER, late Professor of Chemistry and Honorary Director of the Royal Polytechnic Institution, etc. The Work embraces Light, Heat, Electricity, Magnetism, Pneumatics, Acoustics, and Chemistry. With 650 Illustrations. Fourth Revised Edition, with Additions. 8vo. Cloth, gilt. $2.50.

The general demand for works of science written in such a manner as to be easily understood by the young, as well as by persons not specially trained in scientific pursuits, has seemed to the Publishers to justify the reprinting of this highly-successful English work. Its style is lucid, while in point of scientific exactness nothing is wanting. A notable feature is the comparative absence of purely technical terms. The work is, in reality, a hand-book of instructive experiments, chiefly in physics and chemistry. Only such changes have been made in the present edition as were found necessary to fit the work more completely for the American student's use.

The reader will find portions of valuable papers written by Faraday, Daniell, Wheatstone, Brewster, Tyndall, Crookes, Browning, Siemens, Noad, Stewart, Tait, Marloye, and others, with a brief summary of Photography by John Spiller, Esq.

Manual of North American Birds.

For the Naturalist and Sportsman. Containing Concise Descriptions of every Species of Bird known in North America, and Illustrated by 425 Outline Cuts of the Generic Characters. By ROBERT RIDGWAY, Curator Department of Birds, U. S. National Museum. Library Edition. Large 8vo. Bound in cloth. $7.50. Sportsman's Edition. Crown 8vo. Bound in leather. $7.50.

The object of the present volume is to furnish a convenient manual of North American Ornithology, reduced to the smallest compass, by the omission of everything that is not absolutely necessary for determining the character of any given specimen, and including, besides the correct nomenclature of each species, a statement of its natural habitat, and other concomitant data.

Originally projected by Professor Spencer F. Baird, and based essentially upon the grand national cabinet of American birds which his energy, ability, and enthusiasm have developed from an unpretentious nucleus into a collection unrivalled in extent and wholly unique in scientific value, this work may be considered as, in a measure, the consummation of a plan conceived by that illustrious naturalist, whose works represent the highest type of systematic ornithology, and have furnished the model from which the younger generation of ornithologists have drawn their inspiration.

This "Manual of North American Birds" will serve as a handy book for the sportsman and traveller, as well as for the resident naturalist, and all will find it a convenient and satisfactory means of identifying any North American bird in all its variations of plumage.

Tales from Chambers's Journal.

Four vols. 16mo. Illustrated. Cloth, gilt. Price, $3.00. Half morocco. $6.00.

To the readers of "Tales from Blackwood" this selection from CHAMBERS'S JOURNAL will be a welcome companion set; the well-known reputation of the Chambers press being sufficient guarantee of the excellence of the stories and their adaptability to home culture and entertainment.

Pioneering in New Guinea.

By JAMES CHALMERS, of New Guinea, author of "Work and Adventure in New Guinea." With a Map and 30 Illustrations, engraved by E. WHYMPER, from photographs taken by LINDT, of Melbourne. Octavo. Cloth. Bevelled boards. $3.00.

This volume contains an account of Mr. Chalmers's most important explorations, including his long visit to the Cannibals of the Gulf, and also many sketches of New Guinea life, customs, habits, and beliefs. Mr. Chalmers has lived and travelled in New Guinea for the last eight years. He is known to all the tribes along the southeast coast, and is the personal friend of many of the chiefs. He has successfully planted Christian teachers in many parts, and returns in a few weeks to carry on this work. He knows the New Guinea people in a way unapproached by any other white man, and as the power of Christianity is already beginning to influence their customs, this record of his travels and the condition in which he found the various tribes must always remain unique. The book contains much to interest those who are helping Christian missions, those who love true stories of thrilling adventure, and those who wish to know the habits and thoughts of a fine race of savages wholly untouched by Christianity or civilization until 1872. Mr. Chalmers, acting as interpreter, accompanied the government expeditions to proclaim the Protectorate which he describes in the book, and was with Sir Peter Scratchley until a few days before the death of the High Commissioner. The numerous illustrations give the best representations of New Guinea scenes that have ever been published.

A BEAUTIFUL LIBRARY EDITION

LES MISÉRABLES.

By VICTOR HUGO.

TRANSLATED.

In Five Volumes, 12mo, Cloth. $6.25.

I. FANTINE.

II. COSETTE.

III. MARIUS.

IV. THE IDYLL AND THE EPIC.

V. JEAN VALJEAN.

Cheap one-volume editions of this great work of fiction exist almost without end, but every bookseller must have experienced the want of a good handy library edition, in large, readable type. To supply this want the present edition has been prepared. It is printed by Messrs. JOHN WILSON AND SON, of the University Press, Cambridge, in clear and beautiful type, on fine white paper. It is in the main a reprint of the English translation, in three volumes, by Sir LASCELLES WRAXALL, made with the author's sanction and advice, which has always been considered the best rendering. Chapters and passages omitted in the English edition have been specially translated for the present issue, numerous errors have been corrected, and the author's own arrangement of the work in five parts and his subdivisions into books and chapters have been restored.

The publishers have spared no expense that would produce a really beautiful edition of HUGO's famous work, in type which it is a pleasure to read, and in volumes which can easily and comfortably be held in the hand.

Struggle to restore a human soul to order and to righteousness by patience and by love, instead of crushing it by your inflexible vindictiveness, your savage justice! Such is the cry of the book. . . . The erudition, the talent, the brilliancy of execution shown in the book are astonishing, — bewildering almost. . . . His resources are inexhaustible, and age seems to have no power over him. What an infinite store of words, forms, and ideas he carries about with him, and what a pile of works he has left behind him to mark his passage! His eruptions are like those of a volcano; and, fabulous workman that he is, he goes on forever raising, destroying, crushing, and rebuilding a world of his own creation. — From Amiel's Journal.

THE SCHOOL OF HOME.

Let the school of home be a good one. Let the reading at home be such as to quicken the mind for better reading still; for the school at home is progressive.

The baby is to be read to. What shall mother and sister and father and brother read to the baby?

BABYLAND. Babyland rhymes and jingles; great big letters and little thoughts and words out of BABYLAND. Pictures so easy to understand that baby quickly learns the meaning of light and shade, of distance, of tree, of cloud. The grass is green; and the sky is blue; and the flowers — are they red or yellow? That depends on mother's house-plants. Baby sees in the picture what she sees in the home and out of the window.

BABYLAND, only a mother's monthly picture-and-jingle primer for baby's diversion, or baby's help for mother, 50 cents a year.

Babies are near enough alike; one BABYLAND fits them all; the only babies' magazine. Send to D. Lothrop Company, Boston.

What, when baby begins to read for herself? Why *her*self and not *him*self? Turn about is fair play — If man means man and woman too, why shouldn't little girls include the boys?

OUR LITTLE MEN AND WOMEN is another monthly made to go on with. BABYLAND forms the reading habit. Think of a baby with the reading habit! After a little she picks up the letters and wants to know what they mean. The jingles are jingles still; but the tales that lie below the jingles begin to ask questions.

What do Jack and Jill go up the hill after water for? Isn't water always down hill? Baby is outgrowing BABYLAND.

OUR LITTLE MEN AND WOMEN comes next. No more nonsense. There is fun enough in sense. The world is full of interesting things; and, if they come to a growing child not in discouraging tangles but an easy one at a time, there is fun enough in getting hold of them. That is the way to grow. OUR LITTLE MEN AND WOMEN helps such growth as that. Beginnings of things. Easy; made easy by words and pictures; not too easy. The reading habit has got to another stage.

You may send a dollar to D. Lothrop Company, Boston, for such a school as that for a year.

Then comes THE PANSY with stories of child-life, tales of travel at home and abroad, adventure, history, old and new, religion at home and over the seas, and roundabout tales on the International Sunday School Lesson.

Pansy is the editor; THE PANSY is the magazine. Pansy must be full of good things; THE PANSY is.

There are thousands and thousands of children and children of larger growth all over the country who know about Pansy the writer, and THE PANSY the magazine. There are thousands and thousands more who will be glad to know.

Send to D. Lothrop Company, Boston, a dollar a year for THE PANSY.

The reading habit is now pretty well established; not only the reading habit, but liking for useful reading; and useful reading leads to learning.

Now comes WIDE AWAKE, vigorous, hearty, not to say heavy, WIDE AWAKE. No, it isn't heavy, though full as it can be of practical help along the road to sober manhood and womanhood. Full as it can be? There is need of play as well as of work; and WIDE AWAKE has its mixture of work and rest and play. The work is all toward self-improvement; so is the rest; and so is the play.

Send D. Lothrop Company, Boston, $2.40 a year for WIDE AWAKE.

Specimen copies of all the Lothrop magazines for fifteen cents; any one for five — in postage stamps.

Fatherland Books. Translated from the German, and among the best Sunday-school Library Books published.

The genuine religious sentiment, the touching pathos, the heartsomeness, as well as the dramatic interest of these stories of Hoffman, of Horn, and of kindred writers, are well known to the German reader; and we trust by our translation to make German thought better known to the youthful English reader, whom we hope to familiarize with scenes and incidents of the Fatherland.

Evangelical Lutheran Theology (The) Ground-work of a System of. By Samuel Sprecher, D. D., LL. D., Professor of Systematic Theology and Mental Philosophy in Wittenberg College, Springfield, Ohio. Published for the Author. 8vo., cloth, 502 pages. 2 75

"A book for the laity as well as for ministers."

The opinion of the distinguished Apologist, Joseph Cook, published in the Lutheran Observer:

"The Evangelical Lutheran Theology has been, for some years, one of my most fascinating studies. My chief authority concerning it has been Luther's life, with the history of the development of his principles in German theological discussion. Next after Dorner's great work on Protestant Theology, I have been assisted most by Prof. Sprecher's recent work. This volume is a window, offering a clear outlook into the heart of German theology, and I commend a studious position at this window to any who desire acquaintance with the best modern thought concerning the conditions of the peace of the soul."

ALTGELD. Our Penal Machinery and its Victims. By John P. Altgeld. 8vo, 151 pages, 50 cents.

To all philanthropists this work makes a direct appeal; while to every citizen who takes an interest in the stability of our institutions this treatise on the lowest stratum of society must be a surprise and a matter of increasing interest. — Post (San Francisco).

ARNOLD. The Life of Abraham Lincoln. By the Hon. Isaac N. Arnold. With steel portrait. 8vo, gilt top, 471 pages, $2.50; half calf, $4.75; half morocco, $5.00.

The book is decidedly the best and most complete Life of Lincoln that has yet appeared. — Contemporary Review (London).

This work is sure to be considered henceforth as an authority, not only upon the character and career of Lincoln, but upon the history of the period to which it is devoted. — The Critic (New York).

It is the only Life of Lincoln thus far published that is likely to live, — the only one that has any serious pretensions to depict him with adequate veracity, completeness, and dignity. — Sun (New York).

The book is particularly rich in incidents connected with the early career of Mr. Lincoln; and it is without exception the most satisfactory record of his life that has yet been written. Readers will also find that in its entirety it is a work of absorbing and enduring interest that will enchain the attention more effectually than any novel. — Magazine of American History (New York).

ARNOLD. The Life of Benedict Arnold; His Patriotism and his Treason. By the Hon. Isaac N. Arnold. With steel portrait. 8vo, 444 pages, $2.50.

Mr. Arnold has accomplished his task wonderfully well. There is a striking absence of personal bias; and if he has succeeded in removing some of the blots upon the character of Benedict Arnold, the impartial reader cannot but think that he is justified, and respect him for his denunciation of treason while he mentions that the traitor was a man and possessed at one time of a noble character. The book is chiefly notable for the range of historical information displayed. The author supports his opinions by letters and documents whose truthfulness cannot be impugned. — Traveller (Boston).

BALDWIN. The Book-Lover. A Guide to the Best Reading. By James Baldwin, Ph.D., author of "English Literature and Literary Criticism," "Story of Siegfried," etc. 16mo, gilt top, 202 pages, $1.25; half calf or half morocco, $3.00.

We know of no work of the kind which gives so much needful information in so small a space. — Evening Telegram (New York).

Sound in theory and in a practical point of view. The courses of reading laid down are made of good books, and, in general, of the best. — Independent (New York).

Mr. Baldwin has written in this monograph a delightful eulogium of books and their manifold influence, and has gained therein two classes of readers, — the scholarly class, to which he belongs, and the receptive class, which he has benefited. "The Book-Lover" is compact with suggestions and wisdom. — Mail and Express (New York).

If a man needs that the love of books be cultivated within him, such a gem of a book as Dr. Baldwin's ought to do the work. . . . The reader who goes carefully through its two hundred pages ought not only to love books in general better than he ever did before, but to love them more wisely, more intelligently, more discriminatingly, and with more profit to his own soul. — Literary World (Boston).

BIART. The Aztecs. Their History, Manners, and Customs. By Lucien Biart. Translated from the French by J. L. Garner. Illustrated. 8vo, 340 pages, $2.00.

The book is scholarly and likely to become a standard. — The Press (Philadelphia).

It is a good example of thorough and abundant knowledge put into a compact form and written readably. — Congregationalist (Boston).

A brilliant description of Mexico as it was at the time of the Spanish conquest. It is a book well worth reading and keeping. — Enquirer (Cincinnati).

The man who can rise from the study of Lucien Biart's invaluable work, "The Aztecs," without feelings of amazement and admiration for the history and the government and for the arts cultivated by these Romans of the New World is not to be envied. — The Advance (Chicago).

The twilight origin of the present race is graphically presented; those strange people whose traces have almost vanished from off the face of the earth again live before us. Their taxes and tributes, their marriage ceremonies, their burial customs, laws, medicines, food, poetry, and dances are described. . . . The book is a very interesting one, and is brought out with copious illustrations. — Traveller (Boston).

BLACKMORE. Lorna Doone: A Romance of Uxmoor. Édition de Luxe. Crown, 4to, gilt edges, 544 pages, $7.50; half morocco, gilt edges, $10.00 net; full turkey morocco, gilt edges, $15.00 net. ‡

This work is universally recognized as one of the masterpieces of modern fiction, and its popularity in England and America increases year by year. In the production of this superb edition it was a labor of love with artists, printers, and publishers to produce a work whose paper, printing, illustration, and binding should be worthy of the text. The result is an Édition de Luxe, which, for its price, is one of the finest books recently issued. Illustrating as it does the beautiful scenery of Devon, wherein the incidents of the story are laid, the book is one which will delight every lover of "Lorna Doone."

BOATS OF THE WORLD. Depicted and described by one of the craft. Handsomely illustrated in colors. Illuminated board covers. Small 4to, $1.00.

Boys love boats as girls love dolls; and this book, with its colored pictures of over eighty different kinds of boats, representing the crafts of all nations, will be a most welcome gift to any bright lad. The letter-press is instructive as well as entertaining.

BROWNE. Golden Poems. By British and American Authors. Edited by Francis F. Browne. Crown 8vo, 464 pages, richly bound, full gilt, $2.00; plush, embossed covers, a new and very elegant style of binding, $4.00.

A book to delight the eye and warm the heart and strengthen the intellect. This large, handsomely bound volume contains a larger amount of true poetic thought than we have ever seen gathered together in equal compass. — Golden Rule (Boston).

I have taken pains to examine with some care your "Golden Poems." What was begun as a task was soon transmuted into a pleasure. I am charmed to see how well you have proved that there was room for still another volume of poetical selections. I shall keep your book hereafter within reach; for it is pleasant to see, easy to hold, and refreshing to read. — Prof. Moses Coit Tyler, in letter to Editor.

BUNYAN. The Pilgrim's Progress. By John Bunyan. With portrait of Bunyan, and 140 illustrations by Gordon Browne. 12mo, gilt edges, illuminated cloth covers, $1.00.

We know no edition of "The Pilgrim's Progress" which, considering the price, equals this one in the charm of good type, beauty of illustration, and general attractiveness.

CARPENTER. Round about Rio. Descriptions of the Brazilian Capital and Vicinity. By Frank D. Y. Carpenter. 12mo, $1.25.

A bright and interesting book, which may be read as a record of travel, and read at the same time as a realistic novel. — Mail and Express (New York).

A book which the thoughtful will read for information, and the young for its genuine fun. — Christian Advocate (New York).

CATON. A Summer in Norway. By the Hon. J. D. Caton, LL.D. Illustrated. New Edition. 8vo, 401 pages, $1.75.

The tone of the book is frank, almost colloquial, always communicative, and leaves a favorable impression of both the intelligence and good nature with which the author pursued his way through unknown wilds. . . . They are excellent specimens of terse and graphic composition, presenting a distinct image to the mind without any superfluous details. — Tribune (New York).

CLARK. Diseases of Women. A Treatise on the Medical and Surgical Diseases of Women. By A. L. Clark, A.M., M.D., Professor of Obstetrics, etc., Bennett Medical College. Illustrated. 8vo, 401 pages, sheep, $4.00.‡

CLEVENGER. Comparative Physiology and Psychology. A Discussion of the Evolution and Relations of the Mind and Body of Man and Animals. By S. V. Clevenger, M.D. 8vo, 247 pages, $2.00.‡

The style of the author is marked by extreme conciseness, and his theories are extremely suggestive. As a statement of the problems of life and mind from the sensational and monistic standpoint, the work deserves perusal. — Alienist and Neurologist (St. Louis).

COOK. The Standard Monitor; or, Freemason's Vade Mecum. Compiled by Edward Cook, Grand Examiner, Illinois. 32mo, leather, 40 cents; leather, tuck, gilt edge, 60 cents.

It supplies a want long felt in our jurisdiction; namely, a text-book that conforms to the standard work and Ritual as authorized by the Grand Lodge of Illinois. I cheerfully commend the useful and convenient little volume to the Craft throughout the State. — De Witt C. Creyier, Past Grand Master.

CORBIN. Belle and the Boys. By Mrs. Caroline F. Corbin. Illustrated. 16mo, 248 pages, $1.00.

To the list of good domestic stories must be added "Belle and the Boys." — Atlantic Monthly (Boston).

A charming book, full of incident to seize and hold attention, — all of which teaches, unobtrusively and forcefully, some priceless lesson of truth, or frankness, or honesty, or patience, or generosity, or trustful courage. — Saturday Evening Herald (Chicago).

COULTER. Mr. Desmond, U.S.A. By John Coulter. 12mo, 244 pages, $1.00; paper, 50 cents.

It is a very well-written story, with a plot strong in dramatic interest, and clear in development. The humor is bright and crisp, and the pathos delicate and natural. The book may be warmly commended for its unconventionality of subject and style, and for the frank freshness that characterizes it throughout. — Saturday Evening Gazette (Boston).

COX. Tales of Ancient Greece. By the Rev. Sir G. W. Cox, Bart., M.A., Trinity College, Oxford. 12mo, 372 pages, $1.25.

It ought to be in the hands of every scholar and every schoolboy. — Saturday Review (London).

It is only when we take up such a book as this, that we realize how rich in interest is the mythology of Greece. — Inquirer (Philadelphia).

Admirable in style, and level with a child's comprehension. These versions might well find a place in every family. — The Nation (New York).

It is doubtful if these tales, antedating history in their origin, and yet fresh with all the charms of youth to all who read them for the first time, were ever before presented in so chaste and popular form. — Golden Rule (Boston).

COXE. Institutes of Christian History. By the Rt. Rev. A. Cleveland Coxe, D.D., Bishop of Western New York. Large 12mo, $1.50.

This volume will contain the First Annual Course of Lectures on the Baldwin foundation, delivered before the Hobart Guild of the University of Michigan, in October, November, and December, 1886.

The "Institutes" are an outline of Christian History, based on the original idea of discarding a conventional treatment of the subject, and reducing words and theories to the hard foundation of demonstrated facts. The author adjusts the Science of History to the admitted facts of history, and thus far follows the scientists of the age, discarding empirical and exploded formulas and phrases. By endeavoring to present the student with a system conformed to Ante-Nicene Constitutions, and to admitted but as yet not duly recognized truths, he aims to remove ambiguities and to make the learner a master of what he studies.

CRANE. The Two Circuits. A Story of Pioneer Life. By J. L. Crane. With 25 illustrations. 12mo, 502 pages, $1.00.

It is racy in more ways than one. I hope it will have as good a run as its heroes and horses — better than some of the last. It shows the amusing side of the itineracy, perhaps to a too amusing extent; still, the horses and heroes have bottom as well as speed. They work well, and show forth fruits according. — Bishop Haven.

CUMBERLAND. The Queen's Highway from Ocean to Ocean. By Stuart Cumberland, F. R. G. S. With numerous collotype illustrations and two maps. 8vo, 431 pages, $4.50.

This large and superbly printed octavo describes the new transcontinental railway route recently opened, which traverses the entire British Dominion between Victoria on Vancouver's Island and Halifax. It is an extremely interesting book of travel by a very competent hand, and opens up some very picturesque portions of our own continent, — portions which are being rapidly filled up by adventurous and enterprising people. The writer does not confine himself to a description of the railway route merely, but gives a very complete idea of the whole Dominion of Canada, especially of its newer central and western parts. The scenery to which he introduces the reader is perhaps unsurpassed in interest, picturesqueness, and grandeur in any part of the world. Here the descriptive portions are ably supplemented by the many very beautiful collotype illustrations scattered through the volume. Two large and fine maps add to the value of the book.

CUMNOCK. Choice Readings for Public and Private Entertainment. Arranged for the Exercises of the School, College, and Public Reader, with Elocutionary Advice. Edited by Robert McLean Cumnock, A.M., Professor of Rhetoric and Elocution, Northwestern University. Fifteenth Edition. 12mo, 426 pages, $1.50.

Among the multitude of books issued for the same purpose during the past ten years, we know of none so complete in all respects, and so well fitted to the needs of the elocutionist, as the volume before us. — Transcript (Boston).

As a reader, editor, and instructor in his department, Professor Cumnock has few equals and no superiors; and this book, the result of the combination of his forces, is unequalled by anything of the kind with which we are acquainted. — Christian Advocate (New York).

CUMNOCK. School Speaker. Rhetorical Recitations for Boys and Girls. Edited by Robert McL. Cumnock. A.M. 12mo, 303 pages, $1.00.

We have rarely seen so charming, and in every way so fresh and sparkling, a volume of this character published. — Courier (Cincinnati).

The selections made in this volume are from the best modern authors. They have been compiled with special reference to their adaptation as pieces for speaking, and also as, at the same time, illustrating the best juvenile literature of the day. — Methodist (Baltimore).

DAVIS. Principles and Practice of Medicine. By Nathan Smith Davis, A.M., M.D., LL.D, Professor of the Principles and Practice of Medicine in the Chicago Medical College, and of Clinical Medicine in the Mercy Hospital, etc., etc. 8vo, 896 pages, $5.00; sheep, $6.00.‡

This volume is unquestionably valuable, not only to the student, but the practitioner of medicine. It bears the stamp on every page of a broad and ripe experience and the exercise and intelligence of a vigorous intellect. It gives the results of a large clinical experience in such a practical form that it cannot fail to render valuable aid to the general practitioner. . . . We commend the work to our readers with our heartiest approval. — New England Medical Monthly.

FAY. Music-Study in Germany. By Miss Amy Fay. Tenth Edition. 12mo, 352 pages, $1.25.

In delicacy of touch, vivacity and ease of expression, and general charm of style, these letters are models in their way. — Graphic (New York).

The intrinsic value of the work is great. Its simplicity, its minute details, its freedom from every kind of affectation, constitute in themselves most admirable qualities. The remarkably intimate and open picture we get of Liszt surpasses any heretofore afforded. It is a charming picture, — strong, simple, gracious, noble, and sincere. — Times (Chicago).

FEARING. The Sleeping World, and Other Poems. By Lillien Blanche Fearing. 16mo, 116 pages, $1.00.

Miss Fearing has produced a volume of poetry which, in fancy, thought, tenderness, and brilliancy of expression, surpasses most, if not all, of those we have lately seen. — American Bookseller (New York).

GERMAN (The). How to Give it; How to Lead it; How to Dance it. By two Amateur Leaders. 12mo, 132 pages, $1.00.

There is no point relating to "The German" that is not treated in this work, which must become as necessary to the learners of that amusement as the "Cook's Own Book" to a successful table. — Tribune (New York).

GIBSON. The Foundations of Christianity. By the Rev. Dr. J. Monro Gibson. 16mo, 204 pages, $1.00.

The book will be read with genuine interest by any one who thinks at all on these noble themes; and we are sure that its effect will be wholesome and powerful in removing difficulties, strengthening defences, and establishing the spirit upon sure foundations. — Observer (New York).

GILCHRIST. A Manual for Infantry Officers of the National Guard. Compiled by Col. J. G. Gilchrist. 16mo, 163 pages, $1.00.

It seems to cover all necessary points, and will serve as an authority to officers and drill-masters throughout the country. — Transcript (Boston).

This little book is to be commended for the brevity and clearness of its several chapters, which undertake to compress into a small space all the essential information relative to the duties, uniform, etc., of an officer of the National Guard. A chapter is devoted to each officer of brigade, regiment, and company. The distribution of the great variety of information derived from regulations and tactics under these several heads has been done with much skill by Colonel Gilchrist. — Army and Navy Register (Washington).

GRISWOLD. The Home-Life of Great Authors. By Hattie Tyng Griswold. Large 12mo, 385 pages, $1.50; half calf or half morocco, gilt top, $4.00.

No such excellent collection of brief biographies of literary favorites has ever before appeared in this country. Mrs. Griswold's taste and discretion are as much to be admired as her industry in the composition of these delightful sketches. — Bulletin (Philadelphia).

The work is invested with a charm all its own. It indicates not only accomplished scholarship and exquisite literary taste, but also the distinctive literary sense of selection that chooses the valuable and the permanent from the unimportant and the transient. — Traveller (Boston).

To the opening minds of young people, whose reading is just becoming absorbing, this volume will be of especial value. . . . In it there is nothing small or mean to vex and disappoint a glowing heart. It is broad, fine, compact, a piece of real, true, needful work done in a first-rate manner. — Tribune (Chicago).

Most often we have a condensed biography with special attention given to the personal element in the way of description, anecdotes, reminiscences, and other such matters as a skilful collector could gather from the plentiful sources of such information. There is a noticeable good taste shown in dealing with those more intimate portions of the lives of the heroes and heroines — the affaires de cœur. — The Nation (New York).

HAYES. Electro-Thermal Bath. Therapeutic Use of Faradaic and Galvanic Currents in the Electro-Thermal Bath; with History of Cases. By Justin Hayes, M.D. 12mo, 112 pages, $1.00.‡

HENDERSON. Practical Hints on Camping. By Howard Henderson. Illustrated. 12mo, 142 pages, $1.25.

It is especially valuable because it descends to the trifles which most writers think not worth mentioning, but which go so far toward making up the sum of happiness or misery of out-door life. — Inquirer (Philadelphia).

HUGO. William Shakespeare. Translated from the French of Victor Hugo, by Melville B. Anderson, M.A. 8vo, 424 pages, $2.00; half calf or half morocco, gilt top, $4.00.

To read it is an education, to reflect upon it is an inspiration. To the translator the English-reading world is under a large debt of gratitude, for he has given us a book which will outlast the age in which it has been written. — The Keystone (Philadelphia).

Here, then, is a book that ought to have a wider reading in America. With all the talk prevalent in the United States about living for the elevation of the people, no man has appeared among us who has a tithe of the fervid faith in the people that glowed in the heart of Victor Hugo. — Herald (Boston).

This volume is much more than a study of Shakespeare. All history, all theology, and all philosophy are grasped and handled with titanic force, the bard of Avon furnishing the text or, as we should say, the pretext, for magnificent speculation. Why has this great work of Hugo's never before been Anglicised? — Bulletin (Philadelphia).

There is hardly a question of life or art that is not considered in this book by the colossal genius who has written it. True words are spoken, and the proper relation of literature to life is shown. American literature will forever be indebted to Mr. Anderson for a translation so accurate, so fine, so scholarly, and so sympathetic in spirit. — Traveller (Boston).

JACOBSON. Higher Ground; Hints Toward Settling the Labor Troubles. By Augustus Jacobson. 16mo, 75 cents.

The author of this little book is one of the many practical and thoughtful men who earnestly desire some right adjustment of the social disturbances. He does not hope for any sweeping reconstruction of the present order of things, but rather for gradual reform. He contents himself with pointing out some of the directions in which reform and advancement may be made. The modest sub-title of his work expresses its real character, and will recommend it to those who are wearied of the numberless panaceas that are offered for the prevailing disorders. He believes in prevention, and would prefer to spend money in removing the causes of disturbance rather than to wait and pay the enormous costs of strikes and militia service. The strong practical sense of the writer, his kindly and philanthropic tone, and the force of many of his suggestions must win the attention of thoughtful and intelligent readers.

JORDAN. Manual of the Vertebrates of the Northern United States, including the District East of the Mississippi River and North of North Carolina and Tennessee, exclusive of Marine Species. By David Starr Jordan, M.D., Ph.D. Fourth Edition. Large 12mo, 406 pages, $2.50.‡

Having tested the value of this manual in the class-rooms and in field-work, we are prepared to give it a hearty commendation to all students and teachers. — Educational Weekly (Chicago).

The very thorough scholarship of Dr. Jordan, in the department of natural history concerned, led me to expect much; but I confess that my expectations have been more than met. The work is admirable. — President White, Cornell University.

Dr. Jordan has done himself great credit in the preparation of this volume, and his publishers have done no less. I can and shall heartily recommend the work as the best of its kind I know. The book must come at once into general use, and prove of great service in spreading a knowledge of natural history and inviting to its study. — Dr. Elliott Coues.

JORDAN. Science Sketches. By David Starr Jordan, M.D., Ph.D., Professor of Zoölogy, and President of the University of Indiana. Large 12mo, $1.50.

Dr. Jordan, whose special work in natural science, much of it in connection with the Smithsonian Institution at Washington, has given him high reputation in America and Europe, has here collected a dozen papers under the appropriate title of "SCIENCE SKETCHES." The subjects are: "The Story of a Salmon;" "Johnny Darter;" "The Salmon Family;" "The Dispersion of Fresh-water Fishes;" "The Nomenclature of American Birds;" "A Neglected Naturalist" (Constantine Rafinesque, "one of the most remarkable figures in the annals of science"); "A Cuban Fisherman" (Prof. Felipe Poey, of Havana, author of the great work, still unpublished, on the Fishes of Cuba); "Darwin" (a summary of his life, work, and influence on modern thought); "The Story of a Stone" (a familiar study in geology); "An Ascent of the Matterhorn" (a thrilling and dangerous experience in Alpine climbing); and "Evolution of the College Curriculum" (a practical study of modern educational problems, by one of the youngest and most successful of American college presidents). While all these papers, except the last two, are scientific or semi-scientific in character, they are written in a style that makes them attractive to the popular reader no less than to the student.

JULIAN. Political Recollections, from 1840 to 1872. By the Hon. George W. Julian. 12mo, 384 pages, $1.50.

The production of a man who may look back upon a public career, of which, in point of character and devotion to a principle, anybody might be very proud. — Atlantic Monthly.

Like Wraxall's "Historical Memoirs," this book infuses dry details with a personal interest, a biographical charm, which makes it by far the most attractive account of the anti-slavery reform that we have yet seen. — Transcript (Boston).

KARR. Shores and Alps of Alaska. By H. W. Seton Karr, F.R.G.S. With illustrations and maps. 8vo, 248 pages, $3.50.

This large and beautifully printed and illustrated octavo gives a detailed description of the wild and picturesque coasts and mountains of our little-known Territory of Alaska; and contains also an account of Lieutenant Schwatka's attempt to ascend Mount St. Elias, in which attempt the author participated.

Probably the most interesting book of the week has been Lieutenant Karr's "Shores and Alps of Alaska." The author faithfully describes what he has seen, and opens the door to a sportsman's paradise. . . . As a note of introduction to the unknown delights and adventures of America's latest acquisition, the book is invaluable. — Land and Water (London).

This excellent volume describes a journey of exploration. . . . The illustrations are very good, and bring the marvellous scenery of Alaska very powerfully before us, — scenery which is probably by far the finest that exists anywhere in the world. — The Athenæum (London).

KEBLE–LIDDON. The Christian Year. By the Rev. John Keble, M.A. The St. Paul's Edition. With the Collects and a Series of Meditations and Exhortations. Selected by permission from the works of the Rev. Henry Parry Liddon, D.D., D.C.L., Canon Residentiary of St. Paul's, and Professor in the University of Oxford. Edited by "Pilgrim." Large 12mo, 453 pages, $2.50.

A handsome and well-printed volume. That its value is increased by the selections from the works of Dr. Liddon will be readily understood. A better gift-book of the religious kind it would not be easy to find. — Pall Mall Gazette (London).

Those who do not possess Dr. Liddon's works will gain an excellent idea of him as a preacher from this book. The "extracts" are really passages from his sermons, some of them occupying as much as two pages of this work. — Literary Churchman (London).

KING. Haschisch. A Novel. By Thorold King. 12mo, 314 pages, $1.00; paper, 50 cents.

A cleverly constructed story, and brimful of excitement. — Gazette (Boston).

The singular effects of the drug which gives the title to the book have, of course, everything to do with the story. It leads to serious complications, and a romance of peculiar dramatic interest is developed. The book is a medical and a psychological study at the same time. Mr. Thorold King, by this clever production, steps into the front ranks of contemporary American writers of light fiction. — Bulletin (Philadelphia).

KIRKLAND. A Short History of France for Young People. By Miss E. S. Kirkland. 12mo, 398 pages, $1.25.

We are able to give it our heartiest commendation. — Living Church (Chicago).

We find its descriptions uncommonly good, that it is admirably simple, direct in style, without waste of words or timidity of opinion. The book represents a great deal of patient labor and conscientious study. — Courant (Hartford).

Miss Kirkland has composed her "Short History of France" in the way in which a history for young people ought to be written; that is, she has aimed to present a consecutive and agreeable story, from which the reader can not only learn the names of kings and the succession of events, but can also receive a vivid and permanent impression as to the character, modes of life, and the spirit of different periods. — The Nation (New York).

KIRKLAND. Six Little Cooks; or, Aunt Jane's Cooking Class. By Miss E. S. Kirkland. 12mo, 236 pages, $1.00.

We have not seen in the whole range of our juvenile literature a more useful and attractive volume for girls than this. — Tribune (Chicago).

While it is really an interesting narrative in itself, it delightfully teaches girls just how to follow practically its many recipes. — St. Nicholas (New York).

A lucky stroke of genius, because it is a good thing well done. It has the charm of a bright story of real life, and is a useful essay on the art of cooking. — Times (New York).

KIRKLAND. Dora's Housekeeping. By Miss E. S. Kirkland. 12mo, 275 pages, $1.00.

It occupies a hitherto untilled field in literature, and girls and their mothers will be equally delighted with it. — The Advance (Chicago).

The story does not flag, either, and is enlivened with some good character sketching. The housewifely advice is sound, sensible, and civilized. We cordially recommend these two books ("Dora's Housekeeping" and "Six Little Cooks") as containing almost the whole gospel of domestic economy. — The Nation (New York).

KIRKLAND. Speech and Manners for Home and School. By Miss E. S. Kirkland. 12mo, 263 pages, $1.00.

Young people need not be required to read this volume; give it to them and they will read it for their own enjoyment, and be rich gainers by repeated perusals. — Presbyterian Banner (Pittsburgh).

A skilful device for conveying, under the form of a story, a good deal of useful information concerning home and social life of young girls. — Christian Union (New York).

The author's theory of manners and of speech is good. Her modest manual might be read, re-read, and read again with great advantage in most American families. The new interest taken in this subject calls attention to a branch of æsthetics which amounts to something and commands respect. — Independent (New York).

KIRKLAND. Six Little Cooks Series. Comprising: Six Little Cooks, Dora's Housekeeping, and Speech and Manners. The three volumes in neat box, $3.00.

LAMARTINE. Graziella: A Story of Italian Love. From the French of A. De Lamartine, by James B. Runnion. Square 12mo, 235 pages, red line, full gilt, uniform with "Memories," "Marie," and "Madeleine," $1.25.

It is, as the translator states, a leaf torn from the personal memoirs of the distinguished poet, brightened by his smiles and moistened with his tears. . . . The translation is a beautiful rendering of the original, and has been carefully and conscientiously done. — Transcript (Boston).

"Graziella" is a poem in prose. The subject and the treatment are both eminently poetic. . . . It glows with love of the beautiful in all nature. . . . It is pure literature, — a perfect story, couched in perfect words. The sentences have rhythm and flow, the sweetness and tender fancy of the original. It is uniform with Max Müller's "Memories," and it should stand side by side with that on the shelves of every lover of pure, strong thoughts put in pure, strong words. "Graziella" is a book to be loved. — Tribune (Chicago).

LARNED. A Critical Analysis of Drummond's Natural Law in the Spiritual World, with a Reply to some of its Conclusions. By E. C. Larned. 8vo, 46 pages, paper, 40 cents.

It is able, and deserves the attention of those who have been impressed by the volume criticized. — Congregationalist (Boston).

LARNED. The Story of a Hunchback. By Julia Larned. 16mo, gilt top, $1.00.

The little book breathes on every page the spirit of the true poet. The author sweeps with strong but gentle hand the chords of the human heart, and makes them to vibrate responsively to her touch. The poem evinces rare depth of emotion and breadth of sympathy, and indicates genius of a high order. — Interior (Chicago).

LINN. Golden Thoughts. From the Words of Leading Orators, Divines, Philosophers, Statesmen, and Poets. By the Rev. S. P. Linn. Crown 8vo, 448 pages, richly bound, full gilt, $2.00; plush, embossed covers, a new and very elegant style of binding, $4.00.

It is the choice fruit of the finest intellects. And through the whole these intellectual suns sparkle and glow and beam. — Golden Rule (Boston).

The contents are truly golden thoughts. They consist of the choicest possible selections from the writings of the best authors all over the world. — Commercial (Cincinnati).

The selections are made with rare taste and judgment. They show a wide range of reading, and a wonderful knack of selecting the few pregnant words which convey the thought of an essay or a speech. Many of the extracts are single lines, epigrammatic in their terse brevity. Others are single aphoristic sentences, and all are short, full of meaning, and to the point. It is a book which readers should peruse and writers should study. — Inquirer (Philadelphia).

MASON AND LALOR. The Primer of Political Economy. In Sixteen Definitions and Forty Propositions. By A. B. Mason and J. J. Lalor. 12mo, 67 pages, 60 cents.

I sincerely hope that Primers of this sort are the beginning of an era in which the knowledge which is most valuable to human kind shall be brought within the leisure time of those who now never look at anything more than a partisan presentation of any subject. — President White, Cornell University.

In point of style the work is a model for a text-book, and will do excellent service in training the pupils to accurate thoughts and to the use of perspicuous language. — Tribune (New York).

MILLER. Shadows of Shasta. A Novel. By Joaquin Miller. 12mo, 184 pages, $1.00.

This is a story with a purpose, and few books of the same character have had a nobler one. The poet of the Sierras lifts his voice in behalf of the Indian. He relates the wrongs of the race with indignation, subdued as much as possible, and with the graphic eloquence of an accomplished writer whose heart is in his subject. — Times (Cincinnati).

MÜLLER. Memories: A Story of German Love. Translated from the German of Max Müller, by Geo. P. Upton. Square 12mo, 173 pages, red line, full gilt, uniform with "Graziella," "Marie," and "Madeleine," $1.25; 16mo, red edges, $1.00.

It is seldom that a powerful intellect produces any work, however small, that does not bear some marks of its special bent; and the traces of research and philosophy in this little story are apparent, while its beauty and pathos show us a fresh phase of a many-sided mind, to which we already owe large debts of gratitude. — Academy (London).

"Memories" is one of the prettiest and worthiest books of the year. The story is full of that indescribable half naturalness, that effortless vraisemblance, which is so commonly a charm of German writers, and so seldom paralleled in English. . . . Scarcely could there be drawn a more lovely figure than that of the invalid Princess, though it is so nearly pure spirit that earthly touch seems almost to profane her. — Republican (Springfield, Mass.).

NINDE. We Two Alone in Europe. By Mary L. Ninde. With Illustrations from Original Designs. 12mo, 348 pages, $1.50.

We have here a book of travel entirely out of the stereotyped class, and as such, it is delightfully refreshing. — Michigan Christian Advocate (Detroit).

It is a narrative told so naturally and so vividly that the two gentle travellers do not seem to be "alone," but to have taken at least the reader along with them. . . . It is filled with so many interesting glimpses of sights and scenes in many lands as to render it thoroughly entertaining. — Congregationalist (Boston).

"We Two Alone" were a pair of bright travellers; and the one of the pair who writes for them both has an enviable power of seeing things clearly, and of saying what she means, without fumbling for a word or inflating her sentence. The book is direct, brief, and — what it assumes to be — the record of the grand tour made by two bright, intelligent, and fearless American girls. — The Independent (New York).

NOHL. Life of Mozart. Translated from the German of Louis Nohl, by John J. Lalor. With portrait. 12mo, 236 pages, $1.00.

Mozart supplies, in his wonderful genius, his pleasing character, and in his varied career, a fascinating subject for biographical treatment. He lives in these pages somewhat as the world saw him, from his marvellous boyhood till his untimely death. — Standard (Chicago).

NOHL. Life of Beethoven. Translated from the German of Louis Nohl, by John J. Lalor. With portrait. 12mo, 201 pages, $1.00.

It is an important contribution to the literature of musical biography. It gives the reader an idea of the man Beethoven, his moods, his ambitions, his personal traits, and will be welcomed by all lovers of music as a strong, firm picture of the great composer, and a record of the incidents of his life. — The Alliance (Chicago).

NOHL. Life of Haydn. Translated from the German of Louis Nohl, by George P. Upton. With portrait. 12mo, 195 pages, $1.00.

A highly interesting picture of the genial, sensitive, and lovable man, and a critically appreciative account of his career as a composer. . . . No fuller history of his career, the society in which he moved, and of his personal life can be found than is given in this work. — Gazette (Boston).

NOHL. Life of Wagner. Translated from the German of Louis Nohl, by Geo. P. Upton. With portrait. 12mo, 204 pages, $1.00.

Herr Nohl's biography is terse, concise, enthusiastic, and at the same time just. Any one who wishes to get a clear idea of the "Music of the Future" and of Wagner's life-work will do well to read this volume. — Press (Philadelphia).

NOHL. Life of Liszt. Translated from the German of Louis Nohl, by Geo. P. Upton. With portrait. 12mo, 198 pages, $1.00.

It is a most interesting and instructive volume, — the only biography of Liszt, in English, which has appeared thus far in this country. We recommend the volume to all lovers of music. — Musical World (Cleveland).

It is more than a mere biography of the great musician: it is a comprehensive, sympathetic review of his personal and musical characteristics, and it is a thoroughly entertaining volume from beginning to end. — Post (Boston).

NOHL. Biographies of Musicians. From the German of Dr. Louis Nohl, by J. J. Lalor and G. P. Upton, and comprising, as above: Life of Mozart, Life of Beethoven, Life of Hadyn, Life of Wagner, and Life of Liszt. Per volume, $1.00. The five volumes in neat box, per set, $5.00; in half calf, per set, $12.50; in half morocco, gilt edges, $17.50.

A series of biographies which ought to be on the shelves of all intelligent musical amateurs. Being written in a most readable style they enjoy much popularity, and in this manner do much good for music in America. — Musical World.

NONPAREIL PRACTICAL COOK BOOK. Containing a Large Number of New Recipes, many from English, French, and German Cooks. By Mrs. A. G. M—. Blank interleaves. 12mo, 432 pages, $1.25.

It seems an ideal cook book. — Free Press (Detroit).

It is an excellent compilation of the best and most economical receipts. . . . A common-sense cook book in all respects. — Globe (Boston).

Everything about the book indicates that the author is intelligent in cooking, in nursing, and in housekeeping generally. — Bulletin (Philadelphia).

PLUM. The Military Telegraph during the Civil War in the United States. By William R. Plum, LL.B. Portraits and illustrations. 2 vols., 8vo, 377 and 390 pages, $5.00.‡

It contains a quantity of information that will be, we doubt not, attentively studied by military men of every country, and especially by those concerned in the department to which it especially relates. — Saturday Review (London).

PUSHKIN. Marie: A Story of Russian Love. From the Russian of Alexander Pushkin, by Marie H. de Zielinska. Square 12mo, cloth, 210 pages, red line, full gilt, uniform with "Memories," "Graziella," and "Madeleine," $1.25.

Pushkin, the most eminent of Russian poets and novelists, is a writer little known in translations. He is delightfully introduced to the American public by his tale of "Marie." — Independent (New York).

An unadorned record, told in the most charming way, of the adventures of a young Russian officer, who sees service against some rebels, and whose betrothal to the heroine forms the romantic part of the story. There is plenty of incident, and the narration is so direct and simple that the reader becomes at once conscious of a master's hand. — The Nation (New York).

REDFORD. Four Centuries of Silence; or, From Malachi to Christ. By the Rev. R. A. Redford, M.A., LL.B. Crown 8vo, 258 pages, $1.50.

Professor Redford's book will be welcome to all who can appreciate a masterly treatment of a deeply interesting theme. — New Princeton Review (New York).

Carefully and intelligently done. The critical views expressed appear to us generally just. His account of Philo is particularly just. — Literary Churchman (London).

Professor Redford, who is the professor of systematic theology and apologetics in New College, London, has done a real service in this able and scholarly work. He is thoroughly familiar with his subject, and he writes with a clearness and vigor which make the book as interesting as it is valuable. It is a most excellent book. — The Interior (Chicago).

REEVES. The Rothschilds: The Financial Rulers of Nations. By John Reeves. Ten Illustrations. 12mo, 381 pages, $1.50.

Mr. Reeves has an interesting subject in the history of the Rothschilds, and he has made the most of it. . . . The author is enthusiastic in praise of the benevolence of the Rothschilds, and he gives many anecdotes illustrating their various characters. — Literary World (Boston).

Altogether this book is most interesting and valuable, and should be read by every one, not only because of certain lessons which it teaches, that no one who wishes to get on in the world can do without, but also because the Rothschilds represent one of the most important factors of European development in the nineteenth century. — The Star (New York).

REXFORD. Grandmother's Garden. By Eben E. Rexford. Illustrated by Mary Cecilia Spaulding. 4to, full gilt, $3.00; with beautifully lithographed flexible cover, $2.50.

This exquisite illustrated gift-book contains a series of ten beautiful original illustrations, reproduced by the photogravure process, in the best style of that art. The various pages are executed in different tints, and charmingly illustrate a very touching poem.

This splendid specimen of artistic book-work is a credit to the house which has produced it. The poem illustrated is a sweet song about the flowers and their association with the dear grandmother who loved and tended them. The pictures are faithful reproductions of charcoal sketches done by a master hand. In mechanical work, quality of paper, and tasteful finish of every detail the book seems to be beyond criticism. — Living Church (Chicago).

RHEINHARDT. Whist Scores and Card-Table Talk. With a Bibliography of Whist. By Rudolf H. Rheinhardt. Illustrated. 12mo, 310 pages, gilt top, $1.50.

It is not a repetition of anything that is included in card literature; it fills a place that none of the several other volumes has pre-empted.— Citizen (Brooklyn).

It is a compendium of interesting facts in regard to the game of whist, including those relative to the origin, varieties, and manufacture of cards, their peculiarities in different countries, etiquette of the card table, tricks with cards, fortune telling, quotations from famous people touching cards and gaming, and in fact almost everything that can be thought of in connection with the subject. — Transcript (Boston).

Mr. Rheinhardt has not only made a pretty book, but also done a new thing. He has prepared a whist score-book to contain the record of the play during two hundred and fifty evenings, allowing ample space for all important data and for explanatory remarks. This is welcome and useful, but it is not the most interesting part of the book. These scores are introduced by a brief bibliography of cards and gaming, and by a more elaborate bibliography of whist. The latter is much the fullest that we have seen, and, although the former might be amplified to advantage — especially by the inclusion of many more French works — it contains nearly all the chief books. Then on the back of the whist scores, which fill only the even pages, is an excellent collection of ana and anecdotes about playing cards and card-playing, gathered from the best sources and carefully credited. — The Nation (New York).

RICHARDSON. Familiar Talks on English Literature. A Manual Embracing the Great Epochs of English Literature, from the English Conquest of Britain, 449, to the Death of Walter Scott, 1832. By Abby Sage Richardson. 12mo, 454 pages, $1.50.

The work is, without question, one of the best of the kind with which we are acquainted; if for no other reason, because it has in greater measure than usual the capacity to interest the young readers for whom it is intended. — Evening Post (New York).

What the author proposed to do was to convey to her readers a clear idea of the variety, extent, and richness of English literature. . . . She has done just what she intended to do, and done it well. — Richard Henry Stoddard in Mail and Express (New York).

RICHARDSON. A Girdle Round the Earth. Home Letters from Foreign Lands. By D. N. Richardson. 8vo, $2.00.

The author of this book — Hon. D. N. Richardson, Editor of the Davenport (Iowa) Democrat — has a talent for travelling and a faculty of narration not often united in one person. His work is as unlike the conventional book of travels as the route taken by Mr. Richardson is unlike the conventional "personally conducted" European journey. Mr. Richardson started westward from the Mississippi River, and returned to it from the eastward; and in thus putting "a girdle round the earth," he visited as many countries and saw as many of their important and characteristic features as was easily possible within the time. He had a peculiarly happy knack of getting access to the inner life and observing the every-day manners and customs of the peoples visited, and gaining an understanding of their racial peculiarities and their social and political institutions. This quickness of perception and fulness of information, aided by his never-failing humor and his off-hand narrative style, have combined to produce an uncommonly readable and instructive book of travels.

RICHARD THE THIRD and the Primrose Criticism. 12mo, gilt top, 164 pages, $1.00.

The style is easy and unconstrained, although of course controversial, particularly in the first essay. The author has made a valuable contribution to the literature of Shakspeare, and at the same time presented to the world a clever piece of criticism. — The Tribune (Chicago).

ROBINSON. The Shadow of the War. A Story of the Early Days of Peace. By S. T. Robinson, M.D. 12mo, $1.00; paper, 50 cents.

In no recent fiction of the kind do we remember more graphic, and, we believe, more truthful pictures of the turbulent life with which it deals, and which is checkered with a negro riot, and with the tragic humors of an election. There is power in it and there is humor and pathos; and there is not, so far as we have observed, the least political animosity. — Mail and Express (New York).

SAINTSBURY. Specimens of English Prose Style. From Malory to Macaulay. Selected and Annotated, with an Introductory Essay, by George Saintsbury. Crown 8vo, xlvi and 367 pages, $2.00; half calf or half morocco, $4.00.

Mr. Saintsbury does so much that it is a wonder he should often do so well. . . . In this volume of "Specimens of English Prose Style" he is seen at his best. The selection is comprehensive and well made; the annotations are always intelligent, and are sometimes as good as such things can be; the introduction, an essay on the nature and development of English prose style, is in the author's happiest vein. . . . Nothing could be better than his sketch of the progress of English prose, from its beginnings in Malory, to its decadence in the individualism of the present day. — Athenæum (London).

Mr. Saintsbury has attempted in these selections to show the historic development of prose and in this effort he has fully succeeded. With critical skill and a fine literary judgment, he has culled his illustrative passages. — The Critic (New York).

SANDEAU. Madeleine; A Story of French Love. Translated from the French of Jules Sandeau, by Francis Charlot. Square 12mo, 244 pages, red line, full gilt, uniform with "Memories," "Graziella,' and "Marie," $1.25.

It is indeed a wonder that a tale so fresh, so sweet, so pure as this has not sooner been introduced to the English-speaking public. — Evening Telegram (New York).

Jules Sandeau's "Madeleine" is a love story that approximates very closely to perfection. It is a theme of exceeding purity and beauty, treated by an artist whose style is as finished and delicate as it is firm, and whose French is a model of elegant simplicity. It is not surprising that "Madeleine" has become a classic, ranking with "The Attic Philosopher," and only a little below "Paul and Virginia." Sandeau tells of the salvation of a wrecked life by the agency of a pure and constant love. His story is a poem in the most tender prose, and is a marvel of precise construction. — Times (Philadelphia).

SARCEY. The Miseries of Fo Hi. From the French of Francisque Sarcey. 16mo, 254 pages, $1.00; flexible covers, 40 cents.

Although the satire was written for France, it reminds us of our own nation's odd bits of diplomacy and its own most ridiculous enactments. A reader may wish to weep while looking into this little hand-glass, and yet no one can avoid laughter, so overflowing is this story with comicalities. — Home Journal (New York).

SCHMID. The Theories of Darwin, and their Relation to Philosophy, Religion, and Morality. From the German of Rudolf Schmid, by G. A. Zimmermann, Ph.D. Second Edition. 12mo, 410 pages, $2.00.

The fullest exposition we have seen of the rise and history of the abstract Darwinian theories, combined with a critical explanation of their practical application. — Observer (New York).

This book, it is plain, is one worth having. The author is one of the very few theologians who is fully possessed of the scientific spirit. . . . There is no phase or bearing of his subject which he does not perceive and clearly indicate; and while there are some matters to which assent cannot readily be given, we pronounce it the best and strongest discussion of the relations between science and religion now existing in an English dress. We quote the words of another, — "instructive, assuring, wise, helpful." — Christian Advocate (New York).

SCUDDER. Congested Prices. An Examination of the Phenomena called "Panics," their Nature and Causes. By M. L. Scudder, Jr. 12mo, 52 pages, 50 cents.

It is well worth the attention of all business men. It is evident on every page that the author understands his subject. — Herald (New York).

It is long since we have met a book which better deserved or repaid thoughtful examination. Its style is clear, brisk, and thoroughly interesting, so that the attention is held from the beginning to the end. . . . It is a very instructive and helpful book. — The Public (New York).

SCUDDER. The Labor-Value Fallacy. An able discussion of Socialism, and particularly of Henry George's Theories. By M. L. Scudder, Jr. 12mo, 92 pages, 50 cents.

It is one of the most thoughtful of recent contributions to economic literature. It is written in a lucid and attractive style, and will be found no less interesting than the work which it specially assails. — Times (Chicago).

Mr. Scudder writes clearly, logically, and withal with a caustic pen, and makes clear to the reader the really serious purposes of his book without wearying. — Courier (Cincinnati).

SHERWOOD. Camp-Fire, Memorial-Day, and Other Poems. By Mrs. Kate Brownlee Sherwood, late National President Woman's Relief Corps. 12mo, 212 pages, $1.00; full gilt, $1.50.

Her poems depicting the uprising of the North, the arming for the field, the march, the fight, the charge, the repulse, the loss of comrades, the grief, heroism, and final victory, — the shifting lights and shadows of soldier-life, — are at once simple, strong, and peculiarly effective. It is doubtful if any single writer has so adequately preserved in verse the spirit and memories of the war. — Free Press (Detroit).

The pieces are all most creditable to the head and heart, the culture and patriotism, of the writer. The war poems are charming, spirited, vivid in description, graceful in movement, instinct with love and faith, — a worthy contribution of a woman's heart to the literature of the war. I am persuaded such poems will not die. They will be among the elements of the education of the people for any future emergency which may arise to test men's love of country. — Rev. Dr. S. F. Smith, author of "Ameriea."

STARRETT. Letters to a Daughter. By Helen Ekin Starrett. Square 16mo, 124 pages, 50 cents; paper, 30 cents.

This small volume deserves unstinted commendation. — Advertiser (Boston).

They are written with charming simplicity of style, and form an excellent guide to be studied earnestly by every young girl who would be dignified in manners and refined in her bearing toward others. — Gazette (Boston).

They are nine in number, and they are admirable. . . . The little book ought to have the widest possible circulation. Its views are excellent, and they are well put. Mothers of daughters should see that it has a hearing. — Literary World (Boston).

An admirable little book to put into the hands of growing girls. Written by a cultured woman who understands girl-life, with its hopes and aspirations, these letters are calculated to keep and to elevate the girls whose aims are high and noble. — Living Church (Chicago).

STARRETT-ALLISON. The Future of Educated Women, by Mrs. Helen Ekin Starrett; and Men, Women, and Money, by Mrs. Frances Ekin Allison. 16mo, 75 pages, 50 cents.

It is one of the very wisest and truest utterances I have read on the woman question. — Frances Power Cobbe.

The two essays deal intelligently and practically with the great question of employment for women, the care of property, etc. They are eminently sensible and helpful in their general suggestions, and will do real good. — Congregationalist (Boston).

STEELE. Frontier Army Sketches. By James W. Steele. 12mo, 326 pages, $1.00.

These stories are fragrant with the breath of the mountain and the plain, with constant reminders of the saddle and the camp-fire. — Courier (Cincinnati).

They are the writings of a man of culture and refined taste. There is a polish in his work, even in the rough materials that army officers find in our far Southwest among Indians and white frontiersmen, that reminds the reader of Irving's sketches. — Bulletin (Philadelphia).

SWISSHELM. Half a Century. By Jane Gray Swisshelm. 12mo, 363 pages, $1.50.

So cleverly done that one is impressed at once with its reality. — Times (New York).

It is as entrancing as a novel, full of adventurous life and incident, and as instructive as several volumes of its size filled with the ordinary details of history and biography. It is a book to praise a good deal and to blame somewhat; to laugh at and to cry over; on the whole, the most amusing, provoking, inspiring production of many a long day, which, having once begun, you will not lay down until the last chapter and page are finished. And having finished it, you exclaim: "What a wonderful life! What a wonderful woman!" — Christian Register (Boston).

SWING. Motives of Life. By Prof. David Swing. 16mo, pp. 162, $1.00.

Here, as everywhere, Professor Swing writes with the simplicity, the earnestness, and the honesty which come of a sincere devotion to all that is best and noblest and purest in life and character. — Evening Post (New York).

The motives discussed are "Intellectual Progress," "Home," "A Good Name," "The Pursuit of Happiness," "Benevolence," and "Religion," — six in all. Throughout the entire number one can see the author's love of a quiet hearth, of a dreamy reflectiveness, and of a practical method of life. There is about his style a warmth, a beauty of imagery, a charm, that are as much a part of his individuality as his features are. — The Times (Chicago).

SWING. Truths for To-Day. By Prof. David Swing. First Series, 12mo, 325 pages, $1.50; Second Series, 12mo, 294 pages, $1.50.

It is sufficient to say that the American pulpit has sent forth few volumes of sermons richer in thought, more devout in sentiment, more admirable in statement, or fairer in outward fashioning than these volumes. — Independent (New York).

The preacher makes no display of his rich resources, but you are convinced that you are listening to a man of earnest thought, of rare culture, and of genuine humanity. He has no taste for hair-splitting subtleties, but presents a broad and generous view of human duty, appealing to the highest instincts and the purest motives of a lofty manhood. — Tribune (New York).

SWING. Sermons. By Prof. David Swing. 12mo, 307 pages, $1.50.

The best possible review of Professor Swing's books would be one composed entirely of extracts from their pages. Emerson himself is scarcely a more quotable writer. Epigrams and aphorisms follow each other with marvellous plenitude. — Tribune (Chicago).

They are selected with the greatest care, and contain the charming characteristics of their gifted author. Stretching over a wide range of topics they treat of the several vital qualities of human life with the earnestness of thought and genuine humanity which we always find in Professor Swing's works — Chronicle (Pittsburgh).

SWING. Trial of Prof. Swing. The Official Report of this important trial. 8vo, 286 pages, $1.75.

It is a volume of theological discussions of great ability, animation, variety, and vigor, — by a great measure the most interesting theological publication of this decade. — Interior.

TALES FROM FOREIGN TONGUES. Comprising: Memories (Max Müller), Graziella (Lamartine), Marie (Pushkin), and Madeleine (Sandeau). Full gilt, per volume, $1.25. The four volumes in neat box, per set, $5.00; in half calf or half morocco, per set, $12.00; in flexible calf or russia, per set, $14.00.

The series of four volumes contains perhaps the best pieces of classic fiction which have been added by translation to the English language in recent years.

Of "Memories," the Chicago Journal says: "It is dramatically constructed, unflagging in interest, abounding in grace, beauty, and pathos, and filled with the tenderest feelings of sympathy."

Of "Graziella," the Boston Post says: "It is full of beautiful sentiment, unique and graceful in style, of course, as were all the writings that left the hands of this distinguished French author."

Of "Madeleine," the New York Evening Mail says: "It is one of the most exquisite love tales that ever were written, abounding with general pathos and sparkling wit, and so pure in its sentiment that it may be read by a child."

Of "Marie," the Cincinnati Gazette says: "It is one of the purest, sweetest little narratives that we have read for a long time. It is a little classic, and a Russian classic, too. We catch the very breezes of the Steppes, and meet, face to face, the high-souled, simple-minded Russian."

THOMPSON. The Humbler Poets. A Collection of Newspaper and Periodical Verse. 1870 to 1885. By Slason Thompson. Crown 8vo, 459 pages, gilt top, $2.00; half calf or half morocco, $4.00.

The publishers have done well in issuing this volume in a style of literary and artistic excellence, such as is given to the works of the poets of name and fame, because the contents richly entitle it to such distinction. — Home Journal (Boston).

The high poetic character of these poems, as a whole, is surprising. As a unit, the collection makes an impression which even a genius of the highest order would not be adequate to produce. . . . Measured by poetic richness, variety, and merit of the selections contained, the collection is a rarely good one, flavored with the freshness and aroma of the present time. — Independent (New York).

Mr. Thompson winnowed out the chaff from the heap, and has given us the golden grain in this volume. Many old newspaper favorites will be recognized in this collection, — many of those song-waifs which have been drifting up and down the newspaper world for years, and which nobody owns, but everybody loves. We are glad for ourselves that some one has been kind and tender-hearted enough to take in these fugitive children of the Muses and give them a safe and permanent home. The selection has been made with rare taste and discrimination, and the result is a delightful volume. — Observer (New York).

TOPELIUS. Times of Gustaf Adolf. An Historical Romance of the Times of the Thirty Years' War. From the Swedish of Prof. Z. Topelius. 12mo, 341 pages, $1.00.

Its literary work is as perfect as the subject-matter. — Home Journal (New York).

A vivid romantic picturing of one of the most fascinating periods of human history. — Times (Philadelphia).

Its vivid descriptions and thrilling episodes commend it to the lovers of romance, while its historical truthfulness and charming style make it attractive to literary readers of all classes. "The Story of the Thirty Years' War" is a fascinating chapter in history, and Topelius writes of it with great imaginative powers and charm of style. The reader may be assured of a rich treat in this book, and will look eagerly for its successors. — Journal of Education (Boston).

TOPELIUS. Times of Battle and of Rest. An Historical Romance of the Times of Charles X. and Charles XI. From the Swedish of Prof. Z. Topelius. 12mo, 393 pages, $1.00.

One cannot deny the spell that is wielded by these vividly imaginative portrayals of events and characters that have an actual place in history. — Literary World (Boston).

It gives a stirring and graphic account of the conquests of Charles X., in Poland and Denmark, with the famous march of his army across the ice of Little Belt in 1658, and the more peaceful but important events of the reign of Charles XI., especially the witchcraft persecutions and the great Reduction. Topelius deals with the rich material before him like a true master of historical romance. — Good Literature (New York).

TOPELIUS. Times of Charles XII. An Historical Romance of the Times of Charles XII. From the Swedish of Prof. Z. Topelius. 12mo, 349 pages, $1.00.

The picture drawn of Charles XII. is a strong one, and better than any historical narrative. It helps the reader to understand what manner of man he was. — Christian Register (Boston).

Under an enthusiasm caught from the study of the times of which he writes, with a rare tact for an artistic grouping of characters, and with an equally rare talent for powerful delineation and description, Professor Topelius has given us a work which will both delight and instruct the reader, and will occupy no second place on the list of such historical novels as are destined to illustrate the law of the survival of the fittest. — Interior (Chicago).

TOPELIUS. Times of Frederick I. An Historical Romance of the Period succeeding the Reign of Charles XII. From the Swedish of Prof. Z. Topelius. 12mo, 370 pages, $1.00.

We congratulate ourselves upon the opportunity afforded of thoroughly understanding the history and times of Sweden, and countries connected. The style is so engrossing that one cannot bear to lay the book down until every page has been read. — Chronicle-Telegraph (Pittsburg).

It is simply wonderful, the way in which the attention is arrested and held, and the varied and apparently inexhaustible resources which the writer has at his command. He tells us of the actions and sayings of kings and peasants with the same unsurpassed ease and naturalness, with an air of vraisemblance, as the French would say, which is very enchanting. — National Baptist (Philadelphia).

TOPELIUS. Times of Linnæus. An Historical Romance of the Times of the Great Naturalist Linnæus. From the Swedish of Prof. Z. Topelius. 12mo, 394 pages, $1.00.

Like its predecessor in the series, the story is abundant in spirit, movement, and incident, while the recital is characterized by fire, picturesqueness, and force. — Gazette (Boston).

The author has proved himself a master of the art of combination, or of putting old things into new forms and exhibiting them in new relations and associations. His stories are so full of stir and movement, and events are described with such spirit and minute circumstantiality, as to practically disarm the critic and convert him into an absorbed reader. — Times (Chicago).

TOPELIUS. Times of Alchemy. An Historical Romance of the Dawn of the Gustavian Period of Swedish History. From the Swedish of Prof. Z. Topelius. 12mo, 331 pages, $1.00.

"The Surgeon's Stories" are at an end. The two last of the pleasant romances in which Professor Topelius has imbedded the history of Sweden are now before us. The story of the nation closes with the beginning of the present era of peace and stability, while the careers of the heroes and heroines who have helped to tell it terminate where all well-ordered fictitious careers should, — at the marriage altar. The completion of "The Surgeon's Stories" forms an event in modern literature. — Express (Buffalo).

TOPELIUS. The Surgeon's Stories. Translated from the Swedish of Prof. Z. Topelius, and comprising: Times of Gustaf Adolf, Times of Battle and of Rest, Charles XII., Frederick I., Linnæus, and Alchemy. Each book is complete in itself, but an historical sequence and unity connect the series. Per volume, $1.00. The six volumes, in neat box, per set, $6.00; in half calf, per set, $15.00; in half morocco, per set, $16.50.

These works are remarkably brilliant and fascinating reading, and are as abundant in charm as are the delightful historical romances of the elder Dumas. — Saturday Evening Gazette (Boston).

As many of Scott's novels give vivid and truthful pictures of English history, so these stories present a galaxy of historical portraits more life-like than any drawn by the historian. — Chronicle (San Francisco).

No such stories can be found in the language, unless we except Scott's novels and Wilson's Tales of the Border; and with these they cannot be compared. There is a continuous current of both historical and personal interest running through them all, and it is impossible to read the first without feeling compelled to continue to the end. The stories cover the golden era of Swedish history, and no better preparation for study could be made than these six stories. — The Press (Philadelphia).

UPTON. The Standard Operas: Their Plots, their Music, and their Composers. A Handbook. By George P. Upton. 12mo, 343 pages, yellow edges, $1.50; extra gilt, gilt edges, $2.00; half calf, gilt, $3.25; half morocco, gilt edges, $3.75; full morocco, flexible, $6.00.

Among the multitude of handbooks which are published every year, and are described by easy-going writers of book notices as supplying a long-felt want, we know of none which so completely carries out the intention of the writer as "The Standard Operas," whose object is to present to its readers a comprehensive sketch of each of the operas contained in the modern repertory. . . . There are thousands of music-loving people who will be glad to have the kind of knowledge which Mr. Upton has collected for their benefit, and has cast in a clear and compact form. — R. H. Stoddard (in New York Evening Mail and Express).

UPTON. The Standard Oratorios: Their Stories, their Music, and their Composers. A Handbook. By George P. Upton. Uniform with "The Standard Operas." 12mo, 335 pages, yellow edges, $1.50; extra gilt, gilt edges, $2.00; half calf, gilt, $3.25; half morocco, gilt edges, $3.75; full morocco, flexible, $6.00.

Music lovers are under a new obligation to Mr. Upton for this companion to his "Standard Operas" — two books which deserve to be placed on the same shelf with Grove's and Riemann's musical dictionaries. — The Nation (New York).

The author of this book has done a real service to the vast number of people who, while they are lovers of music, have neither the leisure nor inclination to become deeply versed in its literature. — Church Magazine (Philadelphia).

The book is a masterpiece of skilful handling, charming the reader with its pure English style, and keeping his attention always awake in an arrangement of matter which makes each succeeding page and chapter fresh in interest and always full of instruction, while always entertaining. — The Standard (Chicago).

UPTON. The Standard Cantatas: Their Stories, their Music, and their Composers. A Handbook. By George P. Upton. Uniform with "The Standard Operas" and "The Standard Oratorios." 12mo, yellow edges, $1.50; extra gilt, gilt edges, $2.00; half calf, gilt, $3.25; half morocco, gilt edges, $3.75; full morocco, flexible, $6.00.

The "Standard Cantatas" forms the third volume in the uniform series which already includes the "Standard Operas" and the "Standard Oratorios." This latest work deals with a class of musical compositions, midway between the opera and the oratorio, which is growing rapidly in favor both with composers and audiences. As in the two former works the subject is treated, so far as possible, in an untechnical manner, so that it may satisfy the needs of musically uneducated concert-goers, and add to their enjoyment by a plain statement of the story of the cantatas and a popular analysis of its music, with pertinent selections from its poetical text. The book includes a comprehensive essay on the origin of the cantata, and its development from rude beginnings; biographical sketches of the composers; carefully prepared descriptions of the plots and music; and an appendix containing the names and dates of composition of all the best known cantatas from the earliest times. This series of works on popular music has steadily grown in favor since the appearance of the first volume. When completed, as it will be next year by a volume on the standard symphonies, it will be indispensable to every library.

UPTON. Woman in Music. By George P. Upton. Second Edition, revised and enlarged. 16mo, 221 pages, $1.00.

Few books of recent publication are more delightful reading than "Woman in Music." . . . Mr. Upton's diction is singularly felicitous, and he writes with rare tenderness and appreciation. It is a charming book, a fitting tribute gracefully paid. — Interior (Chicago).

WASHBURNE. Sketch of Edward Coles, Second Governor of Illinois; and the Slavery Struggle, 1823–24. By the Hon. E. B. Washburne. With portrait and fac-simile letters. 8vo, 253 pages, $1.50.

It must take its place among the valuable contributions to a period in American annals most important in its bearings upon the destinies of the American people. — The Standard (Chicago).

WHARTON. Sappho: Memoir, Text, Selected Renderings, and a Literal Translation. By Henry Thornton Wharton, M.A., Oxon. With engraved frontispiece after L. Alma Tadema, R.A. Second Edition. 16mo, gilt top, 213 pages, $1.75.

The gratifying success which the first edition of Mr. Wharton's "Sappho" (issued in 1885) met, both in England and America, has led him to prepare a second edition of the work. This contains all the matter of the earlier edition, namely: (1) a popular account of all that is known of the history of the poetess; (2) a complete text in Greek of every known word of hers, with a literal translation in English prose; (3) all the better renderings into English verse which have been made of them; and (4) a bibliography. The new edition also contains new matter of much value and interest, and the Greek type used in it is of great beauty, having never before been used in England or America.

The little book will be treasured by all lovers of poetry, and, we may add, by all bibliophiles, for its intrinsic beauty. . . . As for Mr. Wharton's prose translations, they are characterized by admirable fidelity and self-restraint. — The Literary World (Boston).

Never, certainly, was there such a tribute paid to a woman as in this little memorial, — gathering up from the whole range of ancient literature every fragment, every phrase, giving it in the original and as translated, together with an exhaustive review of all written about the original. — The Nation (New York).

The book is a tribute, an exposition, a monument. To thousands who know not a letter of the Greek alphabet, it is a revelation; and for those thousands Sappho ceases henceforth to be a mere name, and becomes a splendid reality. To have brought these precious relics of immortal verse within reach of the humblest lover of poetry is no small achievement. — Academy (London).

WHEELER. Maurine, and Other Poems. By Ella Wheeler. 12mo, 254 pages, $1.00.

The volume will be welcomed by the author's friends all over the country. Our favorite Wisconsin poetess has the rare gift of touching the popular heart, and but few among the minor poets of the land are so thoroughly successful. — State Journal (Madison).

Few female poetical writers are better known throughout the United States than Miss Wheeler, or more deservedly admired. The volume contains a number of poems that are given to the public for the first time, among which "Maurine" stands out boldly for originality of thought, power of expression, and characteristic literary merits. — Sun (Philadelphia).

SHAKESPEARE'S COMPLETE WORKS. With Explanatory Notes by Malone, Steevens, Reed, Johnson and others; together with a Biography, Index to Characters, Glossary of Obsolete Terms, and a Concordance covering over thirty-two hundred familiar passages. Illustrated with twenty-three steel engravings and two photogravures.

4 vols, 8vo, cloth, gilt top, trimmed or untrimmed edges, . $10 00

Three-fourths calf, ... 18 00

In this edition the text of Malone and Steevens (which is recognized as the most complete) has been used, and all the poems and sonnets are included. It is printed from large open-faced type on fine laid paper. The illustrations, by Smirk and other famous artists, are fine steel engravings, carefully printed on the best plate paper.

The design of the Concordance is not to give a complete Concordance of Shakespeare's words, but rather to select all the desirable quotations and insert them under what, in our opinion, was the most prominent word, thus avoiding endless duplicating and the inserting of thousands of trivial passages. This, together with the addition of explanatory notes selected from the works of Johnson, Reed, Malone, Steevens, Farmer and other commentators, make this edition superior to any other at the price.

PEPYS, SAMUEL, F. R. S. The Diary and Correspondence of Samuel Pepys, Secretary to the Admiralty in the reign of Charles II. and James II. 4 vols, 8vo, cloth, gilt top, uncut, ... $8 00

Three-fourths calf, ... 16 00

The above is an exact reprint of Bicker's fine English edition, and undoubtedly the most desirable edition of this valuable work.

"There is very little that has been said or sung about Walt Whitman that cannot be found somewhere in this volume. Whitman's is an exceedingly interesting personality, and although he leads a quiet and retired life, he is none the less talked about in public and the press. As to his writings, there is the widest possible difference of opinion. It is safe to say, however, that of those who have read him carefully and studied him without bias, a majority may be classified as his admirers."—New York Critic.

Dr. Hayes is the only explorer who ever reached the Open Polar Sea, and the above book is a popular, not a scientific, account of his travels. He says: "Rather than confine myself to a record of scientific investigation, I have aimed, so far as narrative would allow, to bring before the mind of the reader a general picture of the strange life and sublime scenery of a quarter of the world to which we have all been drawn, from childhood, by the ever powerful charm of the mysterious and unknown."

"This is a volume of poetry of an order so high that it would be at once recognized by the literary public if there were not so many readers who measure the value of verse by the fame of the author. Whoever he may be who calls himself 'Paul Hermes,' he need not be ashamed of what he has written; for he has brains, heart and the skill of an artist."—Philadelphia Evening Bulletin.

PART 3 OF DR. MURRAY'S NEW ENGLISH DICTIONARY.

A NEW ENGLISH DICTIONARY,

ON HISTORICAL PRINCIPLES;

FOUNDED MAINLY ON THE MATERIALS COLLECTED BY THE PHILOLOGICAL SOCIETY.

EDITED BY

JAMES A. H. MURRAY, LL.D.,

Sometime President of the Philological Society;

WITH THE ASSISTANCE OF MANY SCHOLARS AND MEN OF SCIENCE.

PART I.	A—ANT, 4to, ...	$3.25
PART II.	ANT—BATTEN, 4to, ...	3.25
PART III.	BATTER—BOZ, 4to, . . .	3.25

The original staff of the Dictionary has been greatly enlarged, and its headquarters have been removed to Oxford. The delegates confidently hope that, under the new arrangements, it will be found possible to issue the succeeding parts at intervals of six months only, and that the work will be complete in Twenty-four Parts.

EXTRACTS FROM REVIEWS.

THE NATION.

It is an act of simple justice to say that if this lexicon is completed on the plan on which it has been begun, it will take equal rank as regards its intrinsic excellence with the two great works published or publishing in French and German, and in many matters of detail will be superior to them both. * * * The book, when completed, promises to be one of the greatest achievements of English scholarship. * * * The completed work, moreover, with its historical statements and literary quotations, will form an impregnable defence against the noisy pests of the period, the smatterers in language, who, through the medium of newspapers and widely circulated manuals, persistently inflict upon the half-educated their own crude conceits about the forms and uses of words. These and other benefits which we cannot specify here will render the work a desirable possession for all; but to the special student of our tongue it will be absolutely indispensable.

NEW YORK TIMES.

The world owes much to the energy and scholarship of Dr. Murray. Without his skillful guidance and untiring activity the great project of the Philological Society would never have been realized, and the English-speaking nations would still have lacked what they now in part possess—a dictionary worthy of their language. * * * Thus scholars work on with untiring patience, self-sacrifice and enthusiasm, and thus the world is made richer. Who can measure the spiritual energy from which this greatest of English books has sprung, or the life of thought and practical advancement which will in the future clothe the apparently dry bones of philological fact which it contains. Certainly the Englishmen of this generation will bequeath to those that come after them no richer legacy than this.

NEW YORK INDEPENDENT.

We have at last the beginning of a historical dictionary of English which answers to the demands of the modern seeker of language. * * * This is certainly the best example of the scientific historical dictionary which has yet been produced in any language. All other English dictionaries have been left out of sight. * * * In substance and scientific form its eminence is still higher. * * * This dictionary is the most important contribution ever yet made to the history of our language. No one is safe in giving the history of an English word without consulting it. No one can consult it without learning something. It will be the beginning of a new era in the study and criticism of the mother tongue. It is also one of the most important contributions of our generation to the science of language. No student of language can do without it; every Anglo-Saxon may be proud of it.

The Dictionary of National Biography.

EDITED BY LESLIE STEPHEN.

 Further Volumes will be issued at intervals of Three Months, and it is expected that the Work will be completed in about Fifty Volumes.

THE DICTIONARY OF NATIONAL BIOGRAPHY is intended to supply a want which has, for more than half a century, been generally felt.

Every reader has recognized the utility of the great French Dictionaries of Universal Biography. At the present day such a work would be rendered impracticable by the great increase of the results of historical inquiry. Some division of labor seems to be imperatively necessary. Each nation should have its own biographical dictionary. The German and Belgian Dictionaries, now in progress, are instances of such work abroad; and it is intended to provide a dictionary for our own nation worthy to take a place beside them.

The first aim has been to give biographies which shall embody with sufficient fullness the latest results of historical research, and be founded upon an examination of original documents. A clear indication will be given in each article of the authorities which have been used, and from which further information may be derived.

In later volumes it will be sought to remedy any errors of excess or defect which may be pointed out in the first. It is confidently hoped, in any case, that the execution of the work will be not unworthy of the aims implied in its title, and that it will take its place beside the completest biographical dictionaries hitherto published; and to American readers in a special degree, embodying as it must necessarily do, the ancestors of most distinguished names in the history of the United States, the importance and interest of the dictionary cannot well be overestimated.

EXTRACTS FROM PRESS NOTICES.

"We have before us in this handsome volume the first instalment of a work which promises to do credit alike to the enterprise of its publishers and the scholarly assiduity of its editor. Every literary workman must have felt the lack of such a book of reference. Since the 'Biographia Britannica' no attempt has been made on anything like an adequate scale to provide a complete storehouse of British biography. The magnitude of the task has, not unnaturally, deterred publishers from attempting it. . . . In any such undertaking the editor's chief difficulty is, in the first place, to determine who shall be deemed worthy of notice, and, in the second place, to preserve a due proportion in the length of the articles. In both respects Mr. Stephen has shown excellent judgment. . . . But it is the shorter notices rather than the more extended monographs upon which the real utility of the work will depend. These, so far as we have looked into them, seem to have been executed with great care, and to embody, in most instances, a good deal of original research. . . . The attention devoted to theatrical biography will greatly enhance the value of the Dictionary."—Pall Mall Gazette

"The appearance of the first volume of the 'Dictionary of National Biography' will probably call the attention of many persons for the first time to the fact that such a work was wanting in our national literature. We have all sorts of Biographical Dictionaries, and of late we are having a goodly supply of what we may call classified or serial biographies; but we want a well-arranged and carefully ordered Dictionary of National Biography, such as that edited by Mr. Leslie Stephen promises to become. . . . Such a work, if successful, ought to become a sort of bead-roll of fame for Englishmen. It ought to be something much better than the Golden Book of Venice. It will be a family distinction to have had the memoir of one of its members enshrined in this national biography. The undertaking is one to which every one must wish success, and in which the best writers of the day might be proud to bear a hand."—London Daily News.

"For years past there has been abundant need of an exhaustive work on English biography, like those which learned societies, under royal or national patronage, are issuing in Germany and Belgium. . . . It is to the exertions of a publishing firm and a private man of letters that we owe the present noble undertaking. An examination of the first of the fifty volumes of which it is to consist shows that the expectations which have been formed concerning it will not be disappointed. In fullness, in thoroughness, and in general accuracy it leaves little or nothing to be desired. It compares very favorably with its two foreign models in most essential points, and in one at least it is distinctly superior. . . . Some dozen years hence, then, we may expect to see the fifty goodly volumes of the 'Dictionary of National Biography' lying side by side on the shelves of our libraries. If all of them are compiled with the learning, the intelligence, and the general accuracy evinced in the first part, the place they will hold is not likely to be disputed for many generations."—London Athenæum.

"In fullness, general accuracy, conciseness, and simplicity of treatment, with not infrequently an infusion of literary quality, the biographies of this first volume are certainly superior to those of any literary work of the kind in English."—G. W. S., in New York Tribune.

"In all other respects, and for obvious reasons, the book will be quite as valuable to Americans as to Englishmen. For reference and for other uses to which such a dictionary can be put, it will be as much desired and sought after in this country as in England. It will stand almost in the same relation to our mutual wants as a dictionary of our common language."—New York Observer.

"As important and interesting to Americans as to Englishmen. . . . It is perfectly safe to predict, therefore, that this dictionary will find as ready acceptance here as in England. It is quite as necessary to an American as to an English Library's completeness."—New York Commercial Advertiser.

"This great work will be welcomed as warmly by America as by England."—Boston Evening Traveller.

"The most thorough and reliable biographical dictionary in existence. . . . Of the general value of the work to Americans we need hardly speak. In great part it is the history of our ancestors, and in the achievements of Englishmen in science, literature, art, and politics, we have the warmest and closest interest. No public library will think of omitting this work from its list, and the number of subscribers among those who know the value of a good private reference library will undoubtedly be large. . . . In closing these volumes we can but add our testimony to the universal verdict passed by all critics who have examined them. The importance of the work demanded the ablest writers, the most laborious and assiduous literary tact, the most accurate and clearest judgment, that English scholarship could supply. These demands have been met in the most completely satisfactory manner, and the result is a model work of historical biography."—Christian Union.

"Open where we may, we meet with the perfection of scientific scholarship in this noble, this monumental work. It will enshrine and preserve the name of Leslie Stephen. It is, it will be, his magnum opus."—Mail and Express.

The English Illustrated Magazine.

PROSPECTUS FOR THE YEAR 1887-1888.

WITH the issue of the October number, THE ENGLISH ILLUSTRATED MAGAZINE will enter upon the fifth year of its existence, and the Editor therefore takes this opportunity of setting before his readers the arrangements that have been made for the new volume.

The fact that the past year has proved the most prosperous since the date of its establishment encourages him to maintain and to develop the special features of the undertaking, which have already won so large a share of public favor. It has been shown that the public is fully prepared to recognize and to appreciate the sacrifices that have been made in order to secure the undisputed excellence of the illustrations of the MAGAZINE; and therefore no pains will be spared to keep the work in this department up to its present high standard. While advantage will be taken of every process that may be fitly employed in the rendering of artistic design, continued and increased encouragement will be given to the higher school of wood-engraving, the delicate beauty of whose work is beyond the rivalry of any mechanical process.

It is a satisfaction to the Editor to feel that his efforts in this direction, both as regards the quality of the engraving itself and the refinement of printing needed to do justice to the engraver's work, have been warmly appreciated by many of the most distinguished painters of the English school, who have generously placed at his disposal many valued examples of their art; and he is happy to be able to announce that for the coming year arrangements have already been made for the reproduction of designs by Sir FREDERICK LEIGHTON, Bart., P.R.A.; Sir JOHN MILLAIS, Bart., R.A.; JAMES SANT, R.A.; E. BURNE JONES, A.R.A.; C. NAPIER HEMY; HAMILTON MACALLUM; E. F. BREWTNALL, etc., etc.

The Editor has also secured the continued and exclusive services of Mr. HUGH THOMSON, a young artist whose talent is well known to the readers of THE ENGLISH ILLUSTRATED MAGAZINE, and whose charming illustrations to "Sir Roger de Coverley" serve to place him high in the rank of original designers in black and white.

With the October number will be commenced a series of papers on

COACHING DAYS AND COACHING WAYS,

By W. OUTRAM TRISTRAM,

wherein Mr. THOMSON will find an appropriate field for the exercise of his talent. These papers will also be furnished with numerous drawings of the picturesque scenery of the old coaching roads, by Mr. HERBERT RAILTON, whose artistic feeling for English architecture has already been exhibited in the pages of the MAGAZINE.

Among other illustrated papers already arranged for may be mentioned

THE SEA OF GALILEE, by Laurence Oliphant.
COAL MINING, by Miss Margery May.
ANTWERP, by Thomas Macquoid.
HELIGOLAND, by Hamilton Macallum.
MOATED HOUSES, by G. L. Seymour.
LA MORTE D'ARTHUR, by H. Ryland.
THE YOUTH OF GOETHE, by James Sime.

In the literary department of the MAGAZINE the Editor is happy to be able to announce a new feature which he believes will prove acceptable to his readers, in the shape of a monthly article of criticism on matters literary, social, and artistic, from the pen of Mr. H. D. TRAILL.

With the commencement of the new volume there will also appear the first chapters of a new historical novel by Professor MINTO, entitled and the first instalment of a new story by the author of "Mehalah," entitled

THE STORY OF JAEL.

Subsequent numbers of the MAGAZINE will contain, among other works of fiction, THE MAGIC FAN, by J. S. Winter; A PLOT FOR A NOVEL, by B. L. Farjeon; THAT GIRL IN BLACK, by Mrs. Molesworth, etc., etc.

The Editor has also arranged for a paper on PERSONAL REMINISCENCES OF CHARLES DICKENS, by J. L. Toole, as well as for the publication of a series of LETTERS BY CHARLES DICKENS.

Early numbers of the MAGAZINE will contain poems by ALGERNON CHARLES SWINBURNE, GEORGE MEREDITH, etc., etc.

 Subscriptions to THE ENGLISH ILLUSTRATED MAGAZINE are received by any Bookseller or Newsagent. Yearly subscription, including double number, $1.75 ; single numbers, 15 cents.
